NOTE-A-BULLS

Team Note-A-Bulls

Chicago had a seven-game win streak from Dec. 8-21, marking the longest streak for the franchise since winning seven-straight in 2014-15. The Bulls are the first team in NBA history to win seven-straight games directly following a 10-game losing skid.

Chicago won seven consecutive home games in December, marking the longest such streak during Fred Hoiberg's tenure as head coach and matching the longest for the team since winning seven home games in a row from April 11 to Nov. 18, 2013.

The Bulls set the franchise record for most 3-pointers made in a single season with 906 (previous record was 651 in 2015-16).

Chicago tallied 54 games with double-digit 3-pointers made this season, which more than doubles the previous franchise high of 23 such games in 2016-17.

The Bulls tied the franchise high for most 3-pointers made in a game with 18 vs. the Wizards on April 1, and their 3-point percentage of .529 tied a season high. Chicago has made 18 triples in a game four times in team history, three of which occurred this season.

This is also the first season in franchise history where Chicago averaged at least 10.0 3-pointers made per game. The team finished averaging 11.0 3-pointers made per game, besting the previous high average of 7.9 in 2015-16 and 2014-15.

The Bulls set a franchise record of 10-straight games with at least 10 3-pointers from Jan. 1 to 20.

Chicago's franchise record for consecutive home games with double-digit 3-pointers ended at 12 on Feb. 9 after only making nine triples against Minnesota.

Chicago outrebounded its opponent in 33 games on the year. The Bulls ranked sixth in the NBA in rebounding (44.7 rebounds per game) and were second in defensive rebounding percentage (80.6%).

The Bulls' reserves outscored the opponents bench in 47 games this season. Chicago finished first in the NBA in bench rebounding (19.0 rpg) and seventh in bench scoring (41.0 ppg).

Chicago finished 9-5 in contests decided by three points or less, which tied for the fourth-highest win total in such games in the NBA.

The Bulls scored a season-high 129 points on March 11 at Atlanta. The last time Chicago scored 129 points in regulation during a regular season game was April 12, 2014 against Toronto.

Chicago recorded 12 games in which its starters each tallied 10-plus points: Cameron Payne (15), David Nwaba (11), Justin Holiday (13), Lauri Markkanen (10) and Cristiano Felicio (10) were the last to accomplish the feat.

The Bulls set a season high with 15 steals against the Celtics on April 6. Chicago had 23 games with double-digit steals this season.

At Miami on March 29, Chicago outscored the Heat in second chance points, fast break points and points in the paint, marking the ninth game the Bulls led their opponent in all three categories this season.

Player Note-A-Bulls

Lauri Markkanen became just the fourth Bulls' rookie and first in 18 years to score 1,000 points and total 500 rebounds in a single season. The other three rookies were Elton Brand, Michael Jordan and Dave Greenwood. Markkanen led the Bulls in scoring 17 times and in rebounding on 26 occasions, marking the most games in both categories by any Bulls' player this season.

Markkanen set an NBA rookie record with ten games in a row of at least two 3-pointers to begin his career. Markkanen then hit multiple 3-pointers in 12 games in a row from Dec. 27 to Jan. 17, which not only set a new career-long streak, but also tied Mike Miller for the longest streak of its kind ever in the NBA by a rookie. He ranked tied for second among all rookies with 45 games with multiple 3-pointers this season.

Markkanen made 145 3-pointers this season, which bested the Bulls' rookie record of 144 by Kirk Hinrich. His 3-point total this season also ranked third-most in any season among 7-footers. Only one other 7-footer in NBA history has made more: Dirk Nowitzki (151, 2000-01; 148, 2002-03).

Justin Holiday, Denzel Valentine and Markkanen all rank among the top-11 in Bulls' history for most 3-pointers in a single season. Holiday (161) had the fourth-highest total in team history, while Markkanen (145) is tied for eighth and Valentine (143) finished with the 11th-highest total.

David Nwaba finished the season with 33 games scoring in double figures. During his rookie campaign in 2016-17, Nwaba had just four games with 10-plus points.

Bobby Portis averaged 13.2 points in 22.5 minutes per contest. Portis was tied for first in the NBA in scoring for players averaging under 23 minutes of game action.

Jerian Grant led the Bulls in passing in 33 games, including recording two games with at least 10 assists and no turnovers. He finished fourth in the NBA in assist-to-turnover ratio (3.84).

Kris Dunn became the youngest player to post at least 20 points, 10 assists and five rebounds in a game for the Bulls since Derrick Rose in 2011-12, as he totaled 20 points, 12 assists and six boards against Charlotte on Dec. 8.

Sean Kilpatrick reached double-digit scoring in seven of the eight games he has played in for Chicago. During that stretch, Kilpatrick had tied his career-long streak with three games of 20-plus points from April 3-7.

GOING ON THE OFFENSIVE Here's a month-by-month look at how these young Bulls improved on offense this season. In its first 23 games this season, Chicago recorded at least 100 points just eight times, but over the last 59 games, the Bulls eclipsed the century mark 41 times.

Month	PPG	APG	Off Rtg	Pace
October	89.8	20.8	91.0	96.85
November	97.2	22.1	96.4	99.55
December	106.9	25.5	106.2	100.18

March	103.0	23.1	100.1	100.29
April	104.2	24.0	104.7	101.79

THE MARKSMAN IN MIDTOWN Lauri Markkanen led the Bulls with 33 points and 10 rebounds in the double-overtime win at the Knicks on Jan. 10. He became the first rookie player on any team, including the Knicks, to produce at least 30 points and 10 rebounds in a game at Madison Square Garden since Billy Owens had 30 and 10 for the Warriors there in 1992. Prior to Markkanen, the only other Bulls rookie to score at least 30 points in a game at MSG was Michael Jordan, who scored 33 points in November 1984 and 42 points at New York later that season. (Elias)

Markkanen made a career-high eight 3-pointers in the game, which holds significance because ...

- He is the only rookie this season to have eight 3-pointers made in a game and is one of 11 players total to make eight 3-pointers in a game.
- He is one of five Bulls players in team history to make at least eight 3-pointers in a game, and joins Chris Duhon as the only rookies to do so. He tied Dirk Nowitzki for the most threes in a game by a 7-footer in NBA history (ESPN).

LARI ON THE MARK Lauri Markkanen made his presence felt this season among other members of his 2017 Draft class. Here's how he ranked in several categories among this season's rookies (same qualifiers as regular leaders):
