HOW THE KINGS WERE BUILT: Kings Vice President of Basketball Operations and General Manager Vlade Divac has made several moves since rejoining the Kings in the front office. Here's a quick look at how the current roster was created:

Bogdan Bogdanovic	acquired in a trade with Phoenix (6/23/16) - Kings received Bogdanovic, the draft rights of Skal Labissiere (28th overall) and Georgios Papagiannis (13th overall), and a 2020 second round pick in exchange for Marquese Chriss
Bruno Caboclo	acquired in a trade with Toronto (2/8/18) - Kings received Caboclo in exchange for Malachi Richardson
Vince Carter	signed as a free agent (7/10/17)
Willie Cauley-Stein	selected by the Kings in the first round (6th overall) of the 2015 NBA Draft
Jack Cooley	signed as a free agent to a two-way contract (7/29/17)
De'Aaron Fox	selected by the Kings in the first round (5th overall) of the 2017 NBA Draft
Harry Giles	acquired in a trade with Portland (6/22/17) - Kings received the draft rights to Giles and Justin Jackson in exchange for the draft rights to Zach Collins
Buddy Hield	acquired in a trade with New Orleans (2/20/17) - Kings received Hield, Tyreke Evans, Langston Galloway, a 2017 first round pick and a 2017 second round pick in exchange for DeMarcus Cousins and Omri Casspi
Justin Jackson	acquired in a trade with Portland (6/22/17) - Kings received the draft rights to Jackson and Harry Giles in exchange for Zach Collins
Kosta Koufos	signed as a free agent
Skal Labissiere	acquired in a trade with Phoenix (6/23/16) - Kings received Labissiere's draft rights (28th overall), Bogdan Bogdanovic, Georgios Papagiannis' draft rights (13th overall) and a 2020 second round pick in exchange for Marquese Chriss
Frank Mason III	selected by the Kings in the second round (34th overall) of the 2017 NBA Draft
Zach Randolph	signed as a free agent (7/10/17)

TONIGHT'S OPPONENT

KINGS VS. ATLANTA HAWKS (3/22 at Golden 1 Center): The Kings invite the Hawks to Sacramento wrap up the second and final game of the season series between these two teams. Sacramento is looking to bounce back after suffering their largest defeat to Atlanta in franchise history, 80-126.

In their last meeting, the Hawks led wire-to-wire and went up by as much as 48 in the contest. Only two Kings scored in double-figures as Zach Randolph scored a team-high 16. Sacramento shot just .352 percent from the field as Atlanta hit over .630 percent of their shots, including 16-of-32 from three-point range.

Dennis Schroder totaled a game-high 21 points to go with eight assists. DeWayne Dedmon ended the night with a double-double as he tallied 20 points and 14 rebounds.

Sacramento is looking to avoid the season sweep as they look for continued home success against their Eastern conference foe.

KINGS VS. BOSTON CELTICS (3/25 at Golden 1 Center): Sacramento welcomes their third Eastern conference opponent in as many games as they look to avenge their loss earlier this year to the Boston Celtics. The Kings are looking for continued home success having beaten Boston in Sacramento over the past five seasons.

In their first meeting this season, the Kings were outlasted from start to finish as they managed just 86 points in the contest and only led three times, each time in the first half. Sacramento could not mount a comeback in the second half going down by as many as 31 in the second half of action. The Kings allowed 17 three-pointers, tied for the most by an opponent this season, while netting just six treys over their own. Sacramento also gave up 11 more second chance points to the Celtics who also doubled the Kings rebound total, 26-52.

Jaylen Brown and Kyrie Irving posted a game-high 22 points as Brown grabbed six boards and Irving dished out five assists. Buddy Hield totaled a team-high 17 points, seven rebounds and three steals and Zach Randolph added 16 points.

Having won at home over the last five seasons, the Kings are looking to avoid the season sweep, which hasn't happened since the 2010-11 season.

KINGS 2017-18 REGULAR SEASON NOTES

BUDDY'S BIG STRETCH: Over his last four games, Kings guard Buddy Hield has been great for Sacramento, averaging 22.3 points, 6.3 rebounds and 5.0 assists per game. Hield is shooting .559 percent from the field and .484 percent from beyond the arc over the four-game stretch. The second-year guard is one of seven players to average 22.0 points, 6.0 rebounds and 5.0 assists over the last four games and amongst those seven holds the second best field goal and three-point field goal percentage.

A SWEEP IN ORACLE: On Nov. 27 at Oracle Arena the Kings defeated the Golden State Warriors for the first time since Mar. 27, 2013. For the second and final time this season, Sacramento took the short trip to Oakland on Mar. 16 and were able to pick up another win on the Warriors home court, 98-93. Previously, the Kings had not on both games in Oakland in the same year since the 2002-03 season when they swept Golden State in the overall season series.

Over the past five seasons, only two others teams have knocked off the Warriors twice at Oracle Arena in the same season. The Denver Nuggets and San Antonio Spurs both won two contests in Oakland during the 2013-14 season.

VC'S RANKS AMONGST THE GREATS: With 24,817 career points, Kings guard-forward Vince Carter is fourth amongst actives in career points. The 8-time All-Star notched seven points on Mar. 19 versus Detroit to surpass Patrick Ewing for 22nd on the NBA All-Time points leaders list. He also ranks eighth in three-point field goals made (2,097) and ninth in career regularseason appearances (1,395). Carter currently ranks fourth on the all-time active leaders for points, fifth in three-pointers made, third in games played and sixth on the all-time active leaders lists for steals (1,462).

ALL-TIME ACTIVE LEADERS THREE-POINT MAKES
1. Jason Terry	2,268
2. Kyle Korver	2,209
3. Jamal Crawford	2,142
4. Stephen Curry	2,126
5. Vince Carter	2,097
6. Joe Johnson	1,969

FOX IN THE CLUTCH: In the Kings win over Miami on Mar. 14, De'Aaron Fox hit a floater at the buzzer to send the game into overtime that would ultimately end in a win for the Purple and Black. It marks the fourth time this season Fox (4-4 FG) has hit a game-winning or tying basket with under 15 seconds in the fourth; Sacramento is 4-0 in all four games where Fox has nailed a game-winner or forced overtime.

Three of those shots have been made with five seconds or less as Fox is one of three rookies to make a go-ahead or game-tying bucket with five ticks or left in the contest. Fellow teammate Justin Jackson and Boston Celtics rookie Jayson Tatum are the only other two rookies to knock down a field goal to tie or win the game in those situations as rookies are 2-of-20 overall in those scenarios this season.

A DEFENSIVE STALWART: Kings forward-center Willie Cauley-Stein is currently averaging 1.1 steals and 1.0 blocks per game, which lead the Kings. Cauley-Stein is one of three players, the others being LeBron James (1.5 spg, 1.0 bpg) and Andre Drummond (1.5 spg, 1.7 bpg), who lead their team in both steals and blocks; Cauley-Stein and Drummond also lead their team in rebounds per game amongst their teammates as James is second on his team.

200 WINS FOR COACH: In the NBA's league history, only 91 coaches had won 200 or more games as a head coach until Sacramento's win over the Magic on Mar. 9. The win marked no. 200 for Kings Head Coach Dave Joergel as he became the 92nd head coach to win 200+ ball games. Head Coaches Mike Budenholzer and Brad Stevens also both achieved win No. 200 earlier this season; all three coaches received their first head coaching job five seasons ago.

BUZZER BEATERS: On Mar. 4, Sacramento picked up another win in the final seconds of the ball game versus the New York Knicks. With 1.6 seconds to go, Kings forward Skal Labissiere nailed the first game-winner of his career as he took a three-pointer that gave Sacramento the win, 102-99. As a team, the Kings have had four game-winning shots this season, including two by De'Aaron Fox (11/9, 1/25) and one by Bogdan Bogdanovic (11/27). Fox also hit a shot to force overtime in Sacramento's Mar. 1 victory against the Nets.

Sacramento is one of four teams this season with three or more players to make a shot to take the lead with 15 seconds or less remaining in the game. Only Houston, the LA Clippers, Miami, and Oklahoma City have also had at least three players with game-winning field goals over the course of the season.

AN ALL-AROUND PERFORMANCE: In Sacramento's overtime win over the Nets on March 1, Kings rookie De'Aaron Fox had another solid all-around performance as he knocked down a game-winning or tying shot to end regulation for the third time this season. Fox finished with 21 points, three blocks and two steals as he became only the second rookie this season to total 20 points, three blocks and two steals in a game this year. He is just the 14th rookie to record 20 points, three blocks and two steals in a game over the last decade and the last Kings first-year player to do so since Tyreke Evans had 34-3-2 on Jan. 18, 2010 at Charlotte. Dating back to 1983, Walt Williams and Lionel Simmons are the only other two Kings rookies to tally 20 points, three blocked shots and two steals in a single performance. The win snapped the Kings five-game losing streak.

THE KINGS RISING STARS: After guards Bogdan Bogdanovic and Buddy Hield were chosen to play in the 2018 Mtn Dew Kickstar Rising Stars challenge on Jan. 24, Sacramento guard De'Aaron Fox was also selected to participate for Team U.S. as the Kings and Sixers were the only two teams with three players in the contest.

2018	Bogdan Bogdanovic (MVP), De'Aaron Fox, Buddy Hield

*Evans named to Sophomore Team but did not participate due to injury

In the Friday night showdown, Team World defeated Team USA, 155-124, as Hield and Bogdanovic played a large role in their team's victory. Hield scored 29 points in the ball game while Bogdanovic notched 26 points and six assists, including seven three-pointers, garnering MVP honors for his performance. Fox tallied four points on the night.

Prior to 2018, Sacramento featured 11 players named to play in Rookie or Rising Stars Challenge dating back to 1994, with the most recent being Isaiah Thomas in 2013. Tyreke Evans earned MVP honors of the game as a rookie in 2010.

A COMEBACK FOR THE BOOKS: During Sacramento's 104-98 win over the Chicago Bulls on Feb. 5, the Kings scored just nine points in the opening period to while their counterpart recorded 28. Sacramento found themselves down by as much as 21 in the first half and down by 14 at the halftime break. Despite a slow start, the Kings were able to outscore the Bulls 63-43 in the second half and pull off the incredible comeback to become just the second team all season to score nine points or fewer in the first quarter and win; the Miami Heat scored seven points in the first quarter against Chicago on Nov. 26 while the Bulls only had 13 points of their own.

Over the last decade, the Kings are just the sixth team to pick up a victory after scoring nine or fewer points and faced the second largest deficit of the six teams. On March 21, 2016, the Charlotte Hornets notched just seven points in the first quarter while the Spurs had 28, but the Hornets would go on to win 91-88 at the final buzzer.

In the Sacramento-era, the Kings have completed a similar comeback just one other time when they defeated the LA Clippers at Staples Center, 104-83, after being down 24-8 in after the opening quarter.

ATTENDANCE STREAK: The Sacramento Kings have enjoyed much support from its fans and community in Sacramento. The Kings are currently on a 80-game home sellout streak. 76 of those games coming at the brand new Golden 1 Center while the four previous games date back to the final stretch at Sleep Train Arena. Sacramento is currently one of eight teams with at least a 50-game home sellout streak.

KINGS 2017-18 REGULAR SEASON NOTES

THE FOX FILES:

- De'Aaron Fox ranks ninth in points (11.6) and fifth in assists (4.3) per game amongst rookies.

- With a career-high tying 10 assists to go with 11 points during the Kings game at Oklahoma City on Mar. 12, Fox notched his third career double-double. The three double-doubles in a rookie season ties the most since Willie Cauley-Stein totaled three of his own during the 2015-16 campaign when he was a rookie.

- On Jan 28., the Kings visited the San Antonio Spurs and Fox finished the contest with a career-high 26 points going 8-for-15 from the field and 4-of-4 from the charity stripe. The former Wildcat also went a perfect 6-for-6 from three-point range, becoming just the eighth rookie since 1987 to shoot 1.000 percent from the field while taking six attempts in a single game. Fox is the second Kings rookie this season to make all six of his three-point attempts after Bogdan Bogdanovic went 6-of-6 from beyond the arc on Jan. 17 vs. the Utah Jazz.

- On Jan. 13, Kings rookie De'Aaron Fox registered 17 points and 10 assists versus the LA Clippers. Fox became the first Kings rookie to post a double-double with 15+ points and 10+ assists since Ray McCallum scored 22 points while dishing out 10 assists in a win at New Orleans on March 31, 2014. Fox's recorded his double-double in 35 minutes of played, tied for the third fewest minutes by a Kings rookie who went for 15 or more points and 10-plus assists in a single game; Tyus Edney scored 15 points and added 10 assists in 32 minutes while Tyreke Evans notched 17 points and 10 assists in 32 minutes as well.

This season, only three other rookies have recorded double-doubles with 15-plus points and 10 assists or greater in a game; 76ers forward Ben Simmons (10), Mavericks guard Dennis Smith (4), and Lakers guard Lonzo Ball (3).

- Per Elias, De'Aaron's Fox's jumper with 13.4 seconds left in the game on Nov. 9 versus Philadelphia made him the youngest player in the last five seasons to make a game winning field goal in the final 30 seconds of the fourth quarter or overtime. The last player to accomplish this was Bradley Beal of the Washington Wizards who also made a shot like Fox's on a less-second go ahead buck against the Thunder on January 7, 2013.

- De'Aaron Fox dished out 10 assists on Oct. 20 at Dallas in his second ever NBA Basketball game. Two other players in franchise history have had 10+ assists in their first or second NBA game: Oscar Robertson (1st) on 10/19/1960 and Phil Ford (2nd) on 10/17/1978 (via Elias). Fox also became one of 11 players since 1985 have had 10+ assists in their first or second career NBA game.

- As a reserve in the Oct. 10 victory at Dallas, Fox joined just one other rookie to record 10 or more assists in their first or second career NBA game off the bench which was Tim Frazier who had 11 at Boston on February 6, 2015. The only player to have 10+ assists in less minutes played than Fox was Rumeal Robinson of the Atlanta Hawks who had 10 assists in 21 minutes in his second professional game versus the Indiana Pacers on November 3, 1990.

ORLANDO IS THE HAPPIEST PLACE ON EARTH: While in Orlando, the Kings did not make a trip to Disneyworld, but the Amway Center became the happiest place on Earth for Kings guard Garrett Temple. In his eighth NBA season, Temple set career-highs in scoring and field goals made yet again while notching a career-high in attempts during Sacramento win against the Magic on Jan 23. The LSU product posted 34 points on 14-of-17 shooting, including 4-for-7 from beyond the arc. The 34 points by Temple are the second most by a Kings this season with Zach Randolph being the only Kings player to surpass the 30-point mark with 35 points at New Orleans (12/8). Temple joins Gary Harris with the highest shooting percentage (.824, 17-24 FG) by a player who scored 30 or more points in a single game this season.

Temple scored 19 points, outscoring the Magic by himself who scored 17 in the final frame. During the final 12 minutes, Temple went a perfect 7-for-7 from the field and hit all three of his shots from three-point range. Only four other players have knocked down seven shots on eight attempts this season as Temple is the only one to make all seven of his fourth quarter tries. The last Kings player to make seven-plus field goals in the final quarter of regulaton was Cavaliers guard Isaiah Thomas. Thomas went 8-of-14 in the last quarter on Dec. 3, 2013 versus the Oklahoma City Thunder.

VINCE DISHES OUT DIMES: During Sacramento's 114-109 win over Dallas on Feb. 13, Kings guard-forward Vince Carter dished out a team-high tying seven assists. The seven assists marks the most assists in a game by Carter since Feb. 5, 2014 when he recorded seven assists in a win at Memphis when he was a member of the Dallas Mavericks.

At the age of 41 years and 18 days old, Carter is the second oldest player to tally seven-plus assists in a game. Former Jazz guard John Stockton notched 10 assists on April 14, 2003 at 41 years and 19 days old versus San Antonio. Stockton also has the most seven-plus assists games at 40 years or older in league history (65) as he and just four others (Michael Jordan, Jason Kidd, Karl Malone, Steve Nash) have previously completed the feat.

VINCE CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY IN STYLE: On Jan 28., just two days after his 41st birthday, Vince Carter became the 10th player in NBA history to play in an NBA game at the age of 41 years old. Currently the oldest active player in the league, Carter was able to celebrate with a solid game against the Spurs; Carter went 7-for-12 from the field and 5-of-7 from beyond the three-point line. The former North Carolina star became the first player at 41-plus years old to knock down five 3s in a game. The 8-time All-Star finished with 21 points, his second game with 20 or more points this season and the second time he knocked down five three-pointers. Against the Memphis Grizzlies on Jan. 19., Carter finished 5-of-6 from deep on the night becoming just the second player at 40 years or older to knock down five or more 3s in a game with the other being Manu Ginobili who scored 26 points including six three-pointers on nine attempts.

VINTAGE VINCE: On Dec. 27, the Sacramento Kings defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers, 109-95. Kings guard-forward Vince Carter turned back the clock during the contest as he went for 24 points, going 10-of-12 from the field and 4-for-5 from beyond the arc. Carter's performance marked the third time he scored 20 points or more at the age of 40 years old. The 19-year pro out of North Carolina is the first 40+ year old bench player to deliver 20 or more points. Only six other players in NBA history have been able to record 20 or more points in a single game at 40 years or older; all are Hall of Famers except for the only other active player - Spurs guard Manu Ginobili.

FILLING UP THE STAT SHEET: Totalling 13 points, six rebounds, five assists, one steal and a block in Sacramento's game versus the Thunder on Feb. 22, Vince Carter became the first 41 year old in the NBA to record 10 points, six rebounds and five dimes to go with a block and steal or better in a game since 1983-84. Only four other players since the 1986-87 season have achieved that stat line at the age of 40 years or older, including Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (4/16/87), Michael Jordan (4/12/03), John Stockton (4/3/02), and Karl Malone (10/28/03, 12/9/03, 3/30/04, 4/1/04) who has accomplished the feat the most times since 1986.

AGE IS BUT A NUMBER: The legend of Vince Carter continues to grow as the 19-year veteran has once again defied father time, recording three steals and three blocks in one game on Jan. 9 at Los Angeles. At 40 years of age (41 on Jan. 26), Carter is just the third player in league history to post three steals and three blocks in a single game at the 40+ years old. Karl Malone had three steals and four blocks (11/10/03) in one game while Robert Parish notched five steals and three blocks (1/30/94).

ONE OF SIX: Kings forward Zach Randolph notched his eighth double-double with 29 points and 12 rebounds during Sacramento's home contest versus Oklahoma City. The veteran joins the company of Tim Duncan (2013-14), Karl Malone (1999-00, 2000-2001, 2001-2002), Robert Parish (1989-90), Artis Gilmore (1985-86), Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (1984-85), and Elvin Hayes (1981-82) as the only six players since the 1981-82 season to post 29 points and 12 rebounds twice in a season at 36 years or older. Only 12 other players aside from this group have recorded 29-plus points and 12 or more rebounds in a single game at 36-plus years of age.

KINGS 2017-18 REGULAR SEASON NOTES

UP IN THE RAFTERS AT CHAPEL HILL: On Jan. 20, Kings forward Justin Jackson had his jersey lifted up in the rafters to become the 44th Tar Heel player to have his jersey honored. Jackson's jersey was met the criteria to be honored by North Carolina after he won the ACC Player of the Year award as well as a consensus first team All-American for his performance last season with the Tar Heels, who also won the national title. Coincidentally, Jackson had his no. 44 jersey hung up in the Smith Center.

Only one other Kings' draftee had their number honored by North Carolina, former King Kenny "The Jet" Smith, who was able to have his jersey put in the rafter for receiving first team All-American honors for the 1986-87 season. Current Kings guard-forward Vince Carter had his jersey honored at Chapel Hill too after being chosen as a consensus second team All-American during the 1997-98 season and for being a part of the gold medal winning team during the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney, Australia.

NOT OPEN FOR CHARITY: On Feb. 3, Sacramento totaled just five free throws made on six total attempts marking the team's season low for free throws made this season as well as tying the franchise-low for free throws attempted in a game. The last time the Kings attempted just six free throws was vs. Charlotte on Jan. 12, 1997. Sacramento's franchise-low in attempts is four, which they have done twice (at Vancouver, 2/26/00; at Portland, 11/19/96).

PERFECT TOUCH FROM 3: Going for 25 points versus the Utah Jazz on Jan. 17 at the Golden 1 Center, Kings guard Bogdan Bogdanovic went 9-of-11 from the field and a perfect 6-for-6 from three-point range. Since 1987, Bogdanovic is one of seven rookies to shoot 1.000 percent from the field while taking six attempts in a single game and finished with the second highest shooting percentage from the field overall amongst the other six. He became the seventh rookie this season to make six or more shots from deep.

WATCH YOUR POCKETS: With 16 steals in their win over Denver on Jan. 6, the Kings recorded 16 steals for the first time this season and for the second time in as many seasons. Prior to the contest, Sacramento posted 16 or more steals only five others times over the last 10 seasons.

Willie Cauley-Stein helped the Kings' steals total as he tallied seven steals of his own, setting a career-high. The third year center is just the seventh player since 1975 to snag seven-plus steals in a game while donning a Kings uniform. The last time a Kings player had seven steals was when former King and current Kings broadcaster Doug Christie had totaled seven steals in a win versus Denver on Jan. 4, 2003. Christie has the most games with seven or more steals in Kings history and shares the Kings record with Chris Webber and Danny Ainge with eight steals in one game.

Since 1976, Cauley-Stein is just the 10th center in the league to have seven or more steals in a game.

ANOTHER MILESTONE FOR ZACH: After dishing out two assists on Jan. 17 during Sacramento's contest versus the Utah Jazz, Kings forward Zach Randolph tallied his 2,000th career assists. Randolph becomes just the 19th player in league history to record 18,000+ points, 10,000+ rebounds, and 2,000+ assists over an NBA career. San Antonio Spurs center Pau Gasol and Dallas Mavericks forward Dirk Nowitzki are the only other active players that have been able to accumulate these totals throughout their career.

During Sacramento's visit to Brooklyn earlier this season on Dec. 20, Kings forward Zach Randolph recorded eight rebounds, including his 10,000th career rebound. The 16-year NBA pro is just the 39th player in league history to record 10,000+ rebounds in an NBA career. Randolph also becomes just the 20th player in the NBA to score 18,000+ points and secure 10,000+ boards. Once again, there are only two other active players to complete this feat, Gasol and Nowitzki. Z-Bo would be the only active American player with 18K points and 10K rebounds. Randolph eclipsed the 18,000 point mark at Milwaukee on Dec. 2, becoming the only Michigan State player to do so and is currently two assists shy of reaching 2,000 for his career.

FLASHBACK FRIDAY: During Sacramento's win over the New Orleans Pelicans on Dec. 8, Kings forward Zach Randolph recorded 35 points and 13 assists. Randolph is the eighth player in the NBA with 35 and 13 this season, posting his third double-double of the year. Randolph had not scored more than 30 points in a game since 2012-13 when he scored 38 points on Dec. 4, 2012 against the Suns and added 22 rebounds. During that season, Randolph was named an All-Star averaging 15.4 points and 11.2 rebounds per game.

Randolph joins Kareem Abdul Jabbar, Charles Barkley, Patrick Ewing, Michael Jordan, Karl Malone, Shaquille O'Neal, and Robert Parish as the only players to have at least 35 points and double-double in a game at the age of 36 years or older. (Basketball-Reference).

BUDDY BUCKETS: On Nov. 25, Buddy Hield's 27-point performance included an outburst from 3, as the second-year guard knocked down seven three-pointers on nine attempts. Hield became just the 13th player this season to make seven 3s on nine or more attempts; Warriors guard Stephen Curry holds the current 2017-18 NBA season-high for three-pointers made with 10 in a single game on just 13 tries.

Since 1983, only 11 other Kings played have completed the feat of seven or more field-goals made from three-point range. The only other Kings player to make seven three-pointers on less attempts was Mitch Richmond who went 8-of-9 from beyond the arc on Feb. 25, 1994 at the LA Clippers and three years later on Feb. 26, 1997 when he went a perfect 7-for-7 from deep at Boston. The last Kings player to record seven or more three-pointers was Omri Casspi when he tied the franchise record with nine 3s on 12 attempts at Golden State on Dec. 28, 2015.

NO NEED FOR THE THREE: On Dec. 19, the Kings picked up a 101-95 win over the 76ers and for the second time this season, the Kings and their opponent shot under .290 percent from three-point range. Sacramento shot .259 (7-27 3pt) percent from deep while the Sixers went 10-for-35 (.286).

Prior to this game, both Sacramento and the Trail Blazers also shot under .290 percent from three-point range in their meeting on Nov. 17, which at the time marked the first time since the 2015-16 season that two teams shot below .290 percent from beyond the arc in a game. The Chicago Bulls and Detroit Pistons were the last two teams besides Sacramento to do this on December 18, 2015 when they shot .227 and .276 percent respectively from 3. That game would end up going into quadruple overtime as Detroit would go on to win, 147-144, as each team took more than 120 field goal attempts, but no more than 29 three-point attempts. In Sac-Era history, their have only been two other games where the Kings and their opponents shot under .290 percent from 3; Sacramento is undefeated in games where both teams shoot under .290 percent from deep, winning all four contests.

RESERVED THE POINTS FOR THE RESERVES: In two games this season, the Kings bench scored 29 straight consecutive points before a Kings starter recorded a single point.

On Dec. 2, Sacramento's bench had all the team's points until Willie Cauley-Stein knocked in his second of two free-throws with 7:48 remaining in the second quarter. This is the second time the Kings have set this NBA record as they initially set it versus the Oklahoma City Thunder on Nov. 11 when the bench scored 29 points.

Willie-Cauley Stein sunk two free-throws to end the starters' scoring drought with 4:08 left to play in the first half. The previous record was 23 points scored by Milwaukee's reserves before then Bucks forward Luc Mbah a Moute knocked down his only shot of the night with 7:06 remaining in the half at Orlando on April 4, 2011. Unlike the Kings, Milwaukee was defeated as they only mustered 72 points even though the Magic scored just 78 themselves.
