OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Home Sweet Home: The Thunder looks to get its third win in four nights as the team returns home to take on the Denver Nuggets tomorrow night to start a three-game homestand. Oklahoma City holds a 13-6 record against Denver when playing at Chesapeake Energy Arena and averaged a point-differential of +8.2 across those games. Dating back to the start of the 2009-10 season, OKC has gone 249-83 (.750) at home, which stands as the second-best home record in the NBA during this span. Following this game, the Thunder will face the Utah Jazz on Wednesday, Dec. 20 and the Atlanta Hawks on Friday, Dec. 22.

Turnover a New Leaf: Oklahoma City leads the league in both steals per game (9.90) and opponent turnovers per game (17.8). The Thunder has yet to finish within the Top 5 in the NBA in these categories since they moved to Oklahoma City as their previous season bests were 8.28 steals per game in 2012-13 and 15.2 opponent turnovers per game in 2013-14. Additionally, the Thunder tops the NBA leaderboard for deflections per game (18.2), forced turnovers on 18.5% of opponent possessions, which tops the league, and recovers the most loose balls each game (8.9). The Thunder is also ranked third in the league with a defensive rating of 101.4. Paul George ranks first in the league in deflections per game (4.9), in steals per game (2.44) and recovered the second-most loose balls each game (1.8). Russell Westbrook is first in loose balls recovered per game (1.9), tied for third in steals per game (2.00) and tied for sixth in deflections per game (3.3).

Elite Company: Since the start of the 2009-10 season, the Thunder has won five Northwest Division titles, reached the Conference Finals on four occasions, the NBA Finals once and amassed a record of 432-237 (.646). Based on winning percentage, the Oklahoma City Thunder ranks as the fourth most winning team among the four major professional sports (NBA, NFL, MLB & NHL).

BEST RECORDS SINCE 2009-10 SEASON (includes NBA, NFL, MLB & NHL teams)
New England Patriots .773 (109-32)
San Antonio Spurs .725 (485-184)
Green Bay Packers .671 (94-46-1)
Oklahoma City Thunder .646 (432-237)

Leaders of the Pack: The Thunder has three players in the Top 5 league leaders as Paul George has the most steals per game (2.44), Russell Westbrook is first in the NBA in assists per game (9.9) and Steven Adams has the third-best field goal percentage (.635, 146-230 FG). Additionally, Westbrook is tied for third in terms of steals per game (2.00), 13th in rebounds per game (9.6) and 16th in scoring (22.8) while Adams is 18th in rebounds per game (8.8).

League of Legends: Oklahoma City sprinkles the NBA career leaderboards as Carmelo Anthony and Russell Westbrook hold the third and sixth best scoring averages among active players with 24.6 and 22.7, respectively. Additionally, Westbrook has the second-best career usage rating in NBA history (32.61) behind Michael Jordan and the fourth-best career assist percentage (41.8). Among active players, Westbrook has the fifth-highest career average for steals per game (1.74) while Paul George ranks seventh (1.70). George also holds the fourth-best career defensive rating among active players (100.75).

Wild, Wild Westbrook, the Lone Ranger: In the Thunder's 100-94 victory over the Jazz on Dec. 3, Russell Westbrook blocked his 200th shot, setting himself apart as the only player in the history of the NBA with at least 200 blocks, 5,000 rebounds and 15,000 points within his first 700 games.

Adam(s)ant About Scoring: Steven Adams ranks third in the league in field goal percentage (.635, 146-230 FG) and scored in double figures in seven straight games from Dec. 1-13, a career best. In three games from Dec. 1-5, totaled 66 points off 28-for-34 shooting. On Dec. 1 vs. Minnesota, Adams went 11-for-11 from the field and 5-for-5 from the charity stripe, matching the second-best shooting performance from the field in Thunder history after Serge Ibaka's 12-for-12 on Jan. 31, 2014, and setting a new career-high with 27 points. He is also the only player in NBA history besides Chris Mullin on Dec. 1, 1990 to be perfect from both the field and free throw line with at least 11 and five attempts, respectively. On Nov. 20 at New Orleans, Adams scored his 2,500th-career point, making him one of just two players since he was drafted in 2013 with as many points and at least 300 blocks and 200 steals in less than 8,000 minutes (Mason Plumlee). He scored in double figures in 17 games and led the team in rebounding 10 times while posting eight double-doubles.

Triple-Double Down: In the Dec. 15 victory over Philadelphia, Russell Westbrook registered his 10th triple-double of the season with a team-leading 27 points, game-best 18 rebounds and game-high 15 assists. On Dec. 13 at Indiana, Westbrook tallied his ninth triple-double with 10 points, a game-best 17 rebounds and game-leading 12 assists. On Dec. 9 at Memphis, Westbrook produced his eighth with 20 points, 14 assists and 11 rebounds. He now holds at least five more than any other player this season. On Dec. 5 vs. Utah, Westbrook logged his seventh and led the game in each category with 34 points, 14 assists and 13 rebounds. On Nov. 24 vs. Detroit, Westbrook recorded his sixth with a game-best 27 points, game-high 11 assists and 11 rebounds along with three steals. On Nov. 20 at New Orleans, he notched his fifth as he logged 22 points, a game-best 16 rebounds and game-high 12 assists along with three steals. In the Thunder's 110-91 win over the Bucks on Oct. 31, Westbrook produced his fourth with 12 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists, making him the only player in NBA history besides Oscar Robertson to record at least four triple-doubles in the first seven games of the season. Westbrook notched his third triple-double of the season and first against Chicago on Oct. 28 at Chicago with 12 points, 13 rebounds and 13 assists, making him the only player in NBA history to log a triple-double against all 29 other teams in the league. On Oct. 19 vs. New York, Westbrook logged his 80th career and first opening night triple-double with 21 points, 16 assists and 10 rebounds, joining Oscar Robertson as the only other player in NBA history with at least 20 points, 15 assists and 10 rebounds in a home opener. This makes him one of ten players in league history to record a triple-double on opening night (LeBron James, Jason Kidd, Chris Duhon, Gary Payton, Clyde Drexler, Scottie Pippen, Fat Lever, Larry Bird and Lewis Lloyd). His 16 assists are the most in an opening night triple-double in league history. Of the 30 NBA franchises, 21 have fewer triple-doubles in their entire team history than the 89 that Westbrook has logged in his career and Oklahoma City is now 8-2 when Westbrook registers a triple-double.

ALL-TIME NBA TRIPLE-DOUBLE LEADERS
Oscar Robertson: 181
Magic Johnson: 138
Jason Kidd: 107
Russell Westbrook: 89
Wilt Chamberlain: 78
Larry Bird: 59

Russdiculous Performance: Russell Westbrook led the league in scoring last season (31.6 points per game) and through 29 games this season leads the NBA in assists (9.9 assists per game). No player in NBA history has ever led the league in scoring and assists in consecutive seasons.

Abrinesolutely Amazing: On Dec. 9 at Memphis, Alex Abrines set a new career-high with 20 points (7-10 FG, 6-8 3FG) en route to scoring his 500th-career point. This makes him just the fifth player in Thunder history with at least 500 points, 37% shooting on 100 threes and 50 steals within his first 100 games (Kevin Durant, James Harden, Kevin Martin and Anthony Morrow).

Analytics Corner: Throughout the Thunder era, Oklahoma City has always been on the cutting edge of analytics and advanced statistics. Throughout the 2017-18 season, Thunder Basketball Communications will provide the media with various data points and advanced basketball metrics.

- The Thunder is forcing turnovers on 18.5% of opponent possessions which leads the NBA
- Just 16.6% of opponent field goal attempts and shooting fouls drawn are in Transition which is first in the NBA
- The Thunder ranks third in the NBA with a 101.4 Defensive Rating

OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Comeback Kids: Oklahoma City came back from 20 points down in the second quarter to earn a 102-101 overtime victory over the Grizzlies on Dec. 9. This ties the second-largest comeback victory in Thunder history from March 29, 2015 at Phoenix, just after the 21-point comeback on March 29, 2017 at Orlando.

Blue Review: The Thunder's G League affiliate, the Oklahoma City Blue is off to an 8-10 start this season and is set to face the Northern Arizona Suns (Phoenix Suns affiliate) next on Tuesday, Dec. 19. Oklahoma City has a defense that ranks third the G League in opponent turnovers per game (19.5) and in steals per game (10.78). Two-way player Daniel Hamilton has led the team in assists in 16 of 18 games and ranks third in the league in assists per game (8.3). Hamilton has also notched a league-leading five triple-doubles this season, including three straight from Nov. 18-24. Michael Cobbins ranks second in the league in field goal percentage at .635 (66-104). Additionally, guard Markel Brown was selected to Team USA for the FIBA Basketball World Cup 2019 Americas Qualifier.

ThundeRuss Birthday: On Nov. 12, Russell Westbrook celebrated his 29th birthday with a 112-99 victory over the Dallas Mavericks. He stands as just one of three players in NBA history with at least 15,000 points, 5,000 assists and 4,000 rebounds before age 29 along with Oscar Robertson and LeBron James.

Not Taken for Grant(ed): On Dec. 3 vs. San Antonio, Jerami Grant played his 100th game in an OKC uniform, making him the only player in Thunder history besides Serge Ibaka to log at least 600 points, 250 rebounds and 90 blocks in his first 100 games.

You've Been Hit by a Smooth Carmelo: On Nov. 25 at Dallas, Carmelo Anthony scored 16 points on 4-of-7 shooting from distance to pass Ray Allen on the NBA's all-time scoring list. Anthony now ranks 22nd (24,653 points) and third among active players behind Dirk Nowitzki and LeBron James. Anthony is also one of six players in league history alongside Kobe Bryant, Vince Carter, LeBron James, Dirk Nowitzki and Paul Pierce to record 24,000 points, 6,000 rebounds, 2,500 assists, 1,000 steals and 1,000 three-point field goals and the only one besides Patrick Ewing to start in each of his first 1,000 games.

NBA ALL-TIME SCORING LIST
20. Jerry West	25,192
21. Patrick Ewing	48,815
22. Carmelo Anthony	24,653
23. Vince Carter	24,608
24. Ray Allen	24,505

Blue October: The Thunder wrapped October play with a three-game road trip that ended with a 110-91 win over the Bucks on Halloween night. This win was their second straight 19-point or better win, marking just the third time in Thunder history that the team has won consecutive road games by 19 points or more. In the three games from Oct. 28 - Nov. 3, the Thunder allowed an average of 36.7 points in the first half and held opponents to 42 or fewer points in the first half of those games, which is the first time since Nov. 14-18, 2014 that they have done so.

Opening Night: Oklahoma City tipped off its 10th NBA season by taking on the New York Knicks on Oct. 19 at Chesapeake Energy Arena, which marked the club's 300th consecutive sellout. In this game, Oklahoma City held New York to the lowest opponent opening night score in Thunder history (previous low was 86 points against the Spurs on Nov. 1, 2012). The Thunder now holds a 9-1 record in home openers, which is tied for second-best in the league since the 2008-09 season (Miami, San Antonio) behind Portland's 10-0 record. They also now hold a 7-3 opening night record while going 3-0 under Head Coach Billy Donovan.

Preseason Basketball: The Thunder wrapped up preseason play with a Tuesday night contest against the Nuggets at the Pepsi Center in Denver, where they won 96-86. This matchup was the fourth and final game of Oklahoma City's 10th preseason, following games against Houston, New Orleans and Melbourne United of Australia's National Basketball League. The Thunder now holds a preseason record of .500 or better in seven of the eight last seasons.

100 for Billy: Last season, Billy Donovan notched his 100th career victory to become the first head coach in NBA history to win 100 games in the first two seasons after coming immediately from the college ranks. Moreover, Donovan is one of three current NBA head coaches to win 100 wins in two seasons with their current respective franchise (Carlisle and Kerr). In all of NBA history, only 18 coaches have won 100 games in their first two NBA seasons as head coach. Additionally, Donovan became just the third first-year head coach in the last 15 years to win 55+ games during his first season.

Triple-Double Dip: To cap off his MVP season, Russell Westbrook registered his NBA-record-setting 42nd triple-double of the season on April 9, 2017 in Denver (Oscar Robertson tallied 41 triple-doubles during the 1961-62 season). Trailing 103-105 with 2.9 seconds left, Westbrook connected on a game-winning 36-foot 3-point field goal to also become the only player in NBA history to post three 50-point triple-doubles in a single season. Furthermore, he is the only player in NBA history to register seven consecutive triple doubles on two separate occasions during a single season. Westbrook also posted five straight 30-point triple-doubles last season to become the only player in NBA history to ever accomplish the feat. To put further perspective on Westbrook's triple-doubles, there are 11 NBA teams that have amassed fewer triple-doubles in their entire team history as compared to the 42 logged by Westbrook last season.

OK3: The trio of Russell Westbrook, Paul George and Carmelo Anthony combined for 5,992 total points last season, which is the most by any other set of three teammates in the league this year. They are followed by Minnesota's Karl-Anthony Towns, Andrew Wiggins and Jimmy Butler (5,810 combined points) and Cleveland's Isaiah Thomas, LeBron James and Derrick Rose (5,307 combined points).

MOST COMBINED POINTS LAST SEASON BY CURRENT TRIO
Russell Westbrook	2,558	Paul George	1,775	Carmelo Anthony	1,659	5,992 total points
Karl-Anthony Towns	2,061	Andrew Wiggins	1,933	Jimmy Butler	1,816	5,810 total points
Isaiah Thomas	2,199	LeBron James	1,954	Derrick Rose	1,154	5,307 total points

Summer Lovin: Over the summer, the Thunder acquired two perennial All-Stars in Carmelo Anthony and Paul George. Anthony is a 10-time All-Star who started in eight of those ten games and George started in two of his four All-Star appearances. Anthony also earned the honor of NBA scoring champion for the 2012-13 season along with his six All-NBA selections. George was named the 2012-13 most improved player in the NBA while earning three All-NBA and three All-Defensive selections himself.

Fun and Olympic Games: This year's Thunder squad contains three Olympic gold medalists for Team USA including Carmelo Anthony (2008, 2012, 2016), Russell Westbrook (2012) and Paul George (2016). Additionally, Carmelo Anthony holds the title of all-time leading scorer for the United States Olympic Men's National Team. Oklahoma City also has two Olympic bronze medalists in Carmelo Anthony (2004) and Alex Abrines (2016) who played for Spain.

OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

Paul in a Day's Work: On Dec. 13 at Indiana, Paul George snagged his 800th-career steal, making him the only player since he was drafted in 2010 with at least 2,900 rebounds, 800 steals and a three-point percentage of .370 or better. In that same timeframe, he is one of just five players with at least 8,000 points in 400 starts or less alongside Damian Lillard, Isaiah Thomas, Kyrie Irving and Kemba Walker.

20/20 Vision: On Oct. 28 at Chicago, Carmelo Anthony recorded a game-leading 21 points, making him the first player in Thunder history to score at least 20 points in his first six games with Oklahoma City. He has also led the team in scoring six times and logged four double-doubles.

Around the World: Oklahoma City is undefeated when hosting international teams at Chesapeake Energy Arena following their 86-85 win over Melbourne United on Oct. 8. This marked the third time the Thunder has played host to an international squad in Oklahoma City. Previously, the team welcomed Fenerbahce Ulker in 2015 (W, 111-81) and CSKA Moscow in 2010 (W, 97-89). Oklahoma City now holds a 5-1 preseason record against international teams as they have also played at Fenerbahce Ulker in 2013 (W, 95-82) and made a trip to Spain last year where they faced Real Madrid (L, 142-137) and FC Barcelona (W, 92-89).

OKC is Fan Friendly: The Thunder once again played in front of a packed house at Chesapeake Energy Arena on opening night vs. New York on Oct. 19, recording its 300th consecutive sellout (including both regular season and playoffs). Oklahoma City was also named first in the league in fan experience following a league-wide audit last season and ranks third in the NBA in local TV ratings, fifth in season ticket subscriptions and renewals, and seventh in social media audience and merchandise sales. Fans in attendance this season will enjoy the improvements made to Chesapeake Energy Arena for the Thunder's 10th anniversary including a Thunder Cares community outreach display, Oklahoma Sports Hall of Fame viewing area, season ticket member recognition wall, interactive digital display where fans can share their stories, KultureCity sensory-inclusion area for fans that needs a calm, quiet atmosphere, digital Fan Assist to provide fans with real-time support, and much more.

Boards are the Barometer: The Thunder closed out the 2016-17 season as the leading rebounding team in the NBA (46.6 rpg). OKC went 20-3 last season when outrebounding the opposition by 10 or more. Additionally, the Thunder led the NBA with respect to points in the paint (49.9 per game). OKC went 12-2 when scoring 60+ points in the paint.

40-Point Games: Including his franchise-best 58-point outing on March 7 versus Portland, Russell Westbrook became the first player since Kobe Bryant (during the 2011-12 season) to score 40 or more in four straight games. Westbrook scored 40 or more points in three straight games twice last season, thereby becoming one of just four players to accomplish the feat since the merger (Moses Malone, Michael Jordan and Kobe Bryant).

In the clutch: Throughout the 2016-17 season, Russell Westbrook continued to be very effective in "clutch" late game situation as he connected on four go-ahead field goals in the final 10 seconds, which was the most in the NBA. ("Clutch" is defined as the final 5 minutes of regulation and overtime when the score is within a five-point differential). Below are several of Westbrook's ranks in those late-game situations last season. During the Thunder's win versus the Grizzlies on Feb. 3, 2017, Westbrook scored the last 15 points of the game to become the first player since Michael Jordan (11/21/97) to record the final 13+ points of a game. Additionally, Westbrook set a career high by scoring 21 fourth quarter points during the Thunder's win versus New Orleans on Feb. 26. More recently, after trailing by 13 with 3:31 in regulation, the Thunder scored 14 unanswered points to defeat Dallas on Mar. 27 (Westbrook scored 12 of the Thunder's final 14 points). Two nights later, Westbrook scored 26 points during the fourth quarter and overtime as OKC rallied from a 21-point deficit to defeat the Magic on Mar. 29. Westbrook capped-off his clutch play this season, by connecting on the game-winning 3-point field goal as time expired on April 9 in Denver (Westbrook outscored the Nuggets himself 13-2 in the final 2:30).

Home Cooking: Since arriving in Oklahoma City in 2008, the Thunder has always taken pride in defending its home court. Oklahoma City finished the 2015-16 season with a home record of 32-9 (tied for 4th best home record in the NBA). Included in that, OKC went an impressive 23-3 at Chesapeake Energy Arena that year when facing Western Conference opponents. Dating back to the start of the 2009-10 season, OKC has gone 249-83 (.750) at home, which stands as the second-best home record in the NBA during this span.

Sustaining Success: In the past eight seasons, OKC has compiled the second-best record in the NBA (behind San Antonio). After the 2008-09 season in which Oklahoma City won 20 games after a 3-29 start, the Thunder found ways to improve the club in each of the four subsequent seasons. With a 60-22 record during the 2012-13 season, Oklahoma City became just the second team in NBA history (Boston, 1955-1960) to increase its winning percentage for five consecutive seasons (while maintaining a winning percentage of .700 or better in two of those seasons). On March 24, 2016, the Thunder claimed a 22-point home victory over the Jazz and in the process, OKC recorded the team's 50th win of the season. Oklahoma City has now finished with a winning percentage of .610 (equivalent to 50 wins) six times dating back to the 2009-10 season. Only the San Antonio Spurs (eight seasons with .610 or better winning percentage), have reached that benchmark more during this period. After finishing the 2016-17 season with a record of 47-35, OKC is now one of three teams (Houston and San Antonio) to maintain a .500 or better record in each of the last eight seasons. The chart to the below illustrates the development of the Thunder program through the years.

Season	Winning %	Playoff Finish
2016-17	.563 (47-35)	Lost in first round
2015-16	.671 (55-27)	Advanced to Conference Finals
2013-14	.548 (45-37)	Did not qualify
2013-14	.720 (59-23)	Advanced to Conference Finals
2012-13	.732 (60-22)	Advanced to Conference Semifinals
2011-12	.712 (47-19)	Advanced to NBA Finals
2010-11	.671 (55-27)	Advanced to Conference Finals
2009-10	.610 (50-32)	Lost in first round
2008-09	.280 (23-59)	Did not qualify

Back-to-Back is Back: Entering the 2017-18 season, the Thunder is set to compete in 14 back-to-back sets. Last season, Oklahoma City played in 15 back-to-backs. OKC finished the year going 8-7 in the first game of a back-to-back and 5-10 on the second night.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS:

- Oklahoma City was down by eight early in the third quarter until a Paul George three-pointer jump started a 12-4 run by the Thunder to tie the game at 56 apiece with eight minutes to go. New York responded and finished the third up 80-73. The Thunder continued to battle, but was unable to close the gap again.
- OKC outrebounded the Knicks 42-35 and generated 28 points off 16 New York turnovers, but the Knicks shot opponent season-bests of 60.9 percent from beyond the arc and 55.1 percent from the field.
- Patrick Patterson scored a season-high 12 points on 4-for-6 three-point shooting and tacked on five rebounds, two steals and two blocks.
- Russell Westbrook tallied a team-leading 25 points, game-high-tying seven assists and seven rebounds.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS:

- The Thunder were up 94-83 with less than six minutes left to play when a Ben Simmons dunk sparked an 11-0 run by the 76ers to knot the game at 94 apiece and send the game into overtime. The teams battled through three overtime periods before an Andre Roberson reverse layup gave OKC a 119-117 lead with 9.6 seconds remaining. Patrick Patterson then deflected JJ Redick's potential game-winning three to seal the Thunder's 17th-straight win over the 76ers.
- Oklahoma City outscored Philadelphia 19-3 in fast break points and outrebounded them 60-50.
- Russell Westbrook registered his 10th triple-double of the season with a team-leading 27 points, game-best 18 rebounds and game-high 15 assists.
- Carmelo Anthony produced 24 points and seven rebounds on 11-for-17 shooting.
- Raymond Felton came off the bench to tally 14 points, three rebounds and a block while going 4-of-5 from beyond the arc.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS:

- Down by five after the first quarter, Oklahoma City recorded a 29-19 second quarter to go into halftime up 51-46. The Thunder extended its lead to as many as 11 points in the fourth, and despite Indiana closing the gap to within one point with less than a minute remaining, an Alex Abrines tip-in and two Paul George free throws earned the victory for OKC.
- The Thunder outrebounded the Pacers 52-42 to outscore them 22-13 in second chance points. OKC also dished out 26 assists to Indiana's 18.
- In his seventh consecutive double-digit-scoring game (a career best), Steven Adams produced a double-double of a game-high 23 points and 13 rebounds while shooting 11-16 from the field.
- Russell Westbrook tallied his ninth triple-double of the season with 10 points, a game-best 17 rebounds and a game-leading 12 assists.
