TORONTO RAPTORS 120, MIAMI HEAT 113 (11/20/09): The HEAT lost their third consecutive game, this time to the Toronto Raptors 120-113. The contest started tight as neither team led by more than four points throughout the first quarter, and the HEAT trailed 26-24 after one. However, the Raptors started a 26-9 run with 9:43 remaining in the second quarter to help build a 69-49 lead going into the intermission. The HEAT would not go quietly as they broke off their own 20-6 run in the third period to narrow the gap to 89-83 after three. The HEAT got within one point of the Raptors in the fourth quarter, but they couldn't get over the hump and the Raptors escaped with the victory. Dwyane Wade and Mario Chalmers became the first pair of HEAT starting guards to score at least 30 points in the same game as they finished with 30 apiece while Michael Beasley added 21 and 12 rebounds. Chris Bosh led the Raptors with 29 points.

ATLANTA HAWKS 105, MIAMI HEAT 90 (11/18/09): The HEAT fell for the second game in as many days, 105-90, to the Atlanta Hawks. Behind Michael Beasley's 11 first-quarter points, the HEAT were able to keep it within striking distance by trailing by three, 26-23, after one. The HEAT were able to tie it at 35 apiece at the 7:02 mark, but the Hawks subsequently broke off a 25-8 run to close the half up 60-43. The HEAT battled their way back to start the second half amidst a 13-2 run, as they went into the fourth quarter down seven, 79-72. However, the Hawks broke off their own 10-1 run to start the fourth, and the HEAT trailed by double digits the rest of the way. Beasley led the HEAT with 21 points and nine rebounds, Dwyane Wade scored 15 points and Jermaine O'Neal chipped in with 12. Joe Johnson was the Hawks top scorer with a game-high 30 points.

QUICK HITS:

- The HEAT has forced their opponents into 105 turnovers the last six games, which they have converted into 111 points.
- Dwyane Wade has scored in double-figures in a franchise record 106 consecutive games.
- When Wade went 9-for-10 from the foul line at TOR on 11/20, it marked the 111th time in his career that he attempted double-figure free throws in a game.
- Udonis Haslem's double-double (28 points and 12 rebounds) on 11/14 vs. NJ marked the 11th time in his career that he has recorded a double-double off the bench. The 11 double-doubles off the bench ranks him in second place on the HEAT's all-time list. Miami's all-time leader in double-doubles off the bench is Rony Seikaly with 14.

DYNAMIC DUO: Dwyane Wade and Mario Chalmers became the first pair of HEAT starting guards to score at least 30 points in the same game after they each recorded 30 points apiece at TOR on 11/20. Additionally, it marked as just the seventh time in HEAT franchise history that a pair of HEAT teammates recorded 30+ points in the same game. Below you will find all seven occasions.

PLAYERS (POINTS)	DATE & OPP
Dwyane Wade (30) & Mario Chalmers (30)	11/20/09 at TOR
Dwyane Wade (37) & Shaquille O'Neal (31)	2/12/06 vs. DET

Glen Rice (36) & Khalid Reeves (32)	4/21/95 at PHI
Glen Rice (34) & Kevin Willis (31)	12/2/94 vs. NJ
Glen Rice (30) & Sherman Douglas (30)	2/6/91 at NJ

FASTEST TO 50: Erik Spoelstra became the fastest coach to hit the 50-win mark in HEAT history on 11/14 vs. NJ. He reached 50 wins in 91 games. Former Head Coach Stan Van Gundy previously was the fastest to reach the 50-win plateau, doing so in 93 games.

20+: Dating back to last season, Dwyane Wade scored 20+ points in 23 consecutive games before ending his streak on 11/18 at Atlanta after scoring 15 points. The 23 consecutive games of 20+ points set a new HEAT franchise record.

ALL-STAR BALLOTING: HEAT players Michael Beasley, Udonis Haslem, Jermaine O'Neal and Dwyane Wade are represented on the 2010 NBA All-Star ballot. Beginning on November 10, HEAT fans can vote online by visiting nba.com or by filling out ballots available on the concourse at AmericanAirlines Arena. The 2010 NBA All-Star Game, which will air live on TNT and ESPN Radio in the U.S., and in more than 200 countries and territories worldwide, will be held at Cowboys Stadium in Arlington, TX on 2/14/10.

BOARDING SCHOOL: Quentin Richardson grabbed at least nine rebounds in three games from 11/3-11/6, marking the sixth time in his career he has done that in at least three straight games. The last time he had at least nine rebounds in at least three straight games was a three-game streak from 11/29-12/2/07. He also accomplished the feat in three straight games from 1/17-1/20/07; 3/12-3/16/04 and 12/28-12/31/03. His career-high for consecutive games with at least nine rebounds is four and occurred from 1/25-1/30/05.

BROKEN: The HEAT has already broken several streaks this season. Before their win on 11/6 vs. DEN, the HEAT had lost their previous eight contests to the Nuggets, with their last win coming in a 107-100 victory on 12/17/04 in Miami. Additionally, prior to their win @ IND on 10/30, Miami had lost 14 consecutive games in Indiana, with their last win coming in an 89-87 victory on 12/31/01. Including the playoffs, the HEAT had lost 17 straight games in Indiana.

PLAYING TOGETHER: The 2009-10 season marks the seventh season in which Dwyane Wade and Udonis Haslem have played together with the HEAT. They are the first pair of HEAT teammates to play any part of a seventh season together. The previous 21 seasons saw four pairs of HEAT teammates play six seasons together. They were Rony Seikaly and Grant Long (1988-89 thru 1993-94), Glen Rice and Grant Long (1989-90 thru 1994-95), Bimbo Coles and Keith Askins (1990-91 thru 1995-96) and Alonzo Mourning and Tim Hardaway (1995-96 thru 2000-01).

2009-10 COMMUNITY NOTES

PLAYER TICKET PROGRAM: One of the most generous and trend-setting programs in the NBA, the Miami HEAT's Community Player Ticket Outreach Program will spend the entire 2009-10 regular season reaching out to children and youth less fortunate who typically would only dream of watching a HEAT game live. HEAT players Joel Anthony, Michael Beasley, Mario Chalmers, Daequan Cook, Yakhouba Diawara, Udonis Haslem, James Jones, Jamaal Magloire, Quentin Richardson, Dwyane Wade, and Dorell Wright along with Head Coach Erik Spoelstra and Alonzo Mourning, Vice President of Player Programs, joined forces to donate nearly 200 tickets for every single home game to local charitable organizations that would otherwise not have the means to attend HEAT games. Each player, based upon availability, graciously provides several private "Meet & Greet" opportunities for the groups prior to each HEAT home game, where the players give inspiring talks to the children, sign autographs and take pictures with the group. The participating organizations also attend a private viewing of the team warm-ups. Over the course of the season, nearly 10,000 children, many for the first time, will have the opportunity to enjoy a HEAT game, courtesy of their favorite HEAT players and role models.

THANKSGIVING CELEBRATION: The Miami HEAT players, coaches, the HEAT Wives Club and the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund are partnering with Goya Foods and Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida to make this Thanksgiving a special one for over 1,000 families in the City of Miami for its annual HEAT Thanksgiving Celebration. The event, in its 18th year, will take place this Monday, November 23 from 3PM to 5PM at the Miami Rescue Mission located at 2020 NW 1st Avenue. HEAT players and staff will be handing out frozen turkeys with all the trimmings including stuffing and canned goods to approx. 600 families in a block-party atmosphere that will include games, activities, inflatables and arts and crafts. Additionally, the HEAT will serve approx. 1,000 hot dogs and drinks to the community's general public at the block party event.

ERIK SPOELSTRA (Portland), Head Coach

Coaching Record: 50-44, Currently in 2nd Season

Erik Spoelstra begins his second season as Head Coach of the Miami HEAT and his 15th within the HEAT organization. He was elevated to his current position on April 28, 2008 when HEAT President Pat Riley stepped down as Head Coach.

Prior to taking over the reigns as the sixth head coach in Miami history, Spoelstra was known around the league for his game preparation and superb attention to detail as the HEAT's Assistant Coach/Director of Scouting. In his last seven seasons in that position he had the primary role of developing game plans for the HEAT's upcoming opponents. To that end, he coordinated the video staff and advance scouts while overseeing the development of scouting reports and videos.

Spoelstra has earned the respect of players throughout the league with a strong reputation as a teacher over the years by heading the HEAT's Individual Player Development Program. As an assistant coach before, where he also served for three seasons (2005-07) as the head coach of the HEAT's summer league team, and as the HEAT's head man now, he has worked tirelessly with many of the HEAT's young players in areas of fundamentals, skill development and shooting. This consistent emphasis of fundamentals contributed to the HEAT setting a franchise-record in 2008-09 for fewest turnovers in a season, shattering the old record by committing 96 fewer turnovers, despite also recording their highest team scoring average since the 2005-06 NBA championship season.

Additionally, Spoelstra helped design and integrate a proprietary statistical database and scouting software for the HEAT. Under Spoelstra, the HEAT continues to embrace the use of technology and continues to use the state-of-the-art statistical software to evaluate team productivity, individual player productivity and trends for both the HEAT and the team's opponents. That use of technology as a teaching tool also included putting the team's video playbook on iPods for his players.

Before becoming Head Coach, Spoelstra spent 13 years in a variety of roles within the organization, including serving as the team's Video Coordinator, Assistant Coach/Video Coordinator, Assistant Coach/Advance Scout, and Assistant Coach/Director of Scouting.

As head coaching debuts go, Spoelstra orchestrated an impressive one. Guiding one of the NBA's youngest rosters, with four of its top seven players garnering only two years or less of NBA experience, Spoelstra turned in one of the best coaching performances in the NBA during his 2008-09 rookie season. Under his guidance the HEAT recorded its greatest single-season improvement in franchise history. He took a 15-win team from the previous season and directed them to a 28-win improvement, marking the greatest single-season improvement ever by a rookie head coach in NBA history, bettering the previous record of a 20-win improvement by former Chicago Bulls Head Coach Ed Badger during the 1976-77 season. It also marked the seventh-best single-season improvement in NBA history by any coach. As a result of a 43-win regular season which surpassed the franchise record for most wins by a head coach in his first season guiding the HEAT, Spoelstra led Miami to the 2009 NBA Playoffs. The 2009 postseason appearance made Miami just the second team in NBA history to win 15-or-fewer games one year and make the postseason the next; only the San Diego Rockets had previously achieved that feat during the 1968-69 season.

In 1992, he graduated from the University of Portland with a degree in communications. While attending the University of Portland, Spoelstra was the starting point guard for all four years and was named the West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year in 1989. Upon graduating from Portland he spent two years as a player/coach for Tus Herten, a team in the professional sports league of Germany.

A team member of the NBA FIT initiative, Spoelstra takes pride in encouraging families to engage in physical activity and healthy living practices with their children. Additionally, he created "Spo's Shooters", in conjunction with the Miami HEAT Community Education Ticket Program. This program reaches out to South Florida's less fortunate student-athletes and gives them the opportunity to enjoy HEAT games and meet their favorite HEAT players and role models.

During the 2009 off-season, Spoelstra participated with the NBA and the U.S. State Department Good Will Sports Envoy Trip to his native Philippines, while hosting basketball clinics and promoting the importance of education, health and wellness to thousands of at-risk youth.

Spoelstra is the son of Jon Spoelstra, a long-time NBA executive who has guided the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Buffalo Braves and New Jersey Nets. His grandfather, Watson, was a Detroit Tigers beat writer for many years.

Raised in Portland, Spoelstra is the first Asian/Filipino-American head coach in any of the major North American sports leagues. He will once again enter the upcoming season as the NBA's youngest head coach. Most recently, Spoelstra was inducted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2009.
