Mad Science of Charleston suggests that you “TRY THIS AT HOME”.... Make your own invisible ink!

You will need:

Half of one lemon, water, a saucer, one spoon, paper, two cotton swabs and one adult

Step 1: Ask the adult to cut the lemon in half

Step 2: Squeeze the lemon juice into the saucer. Add a few drops of water

Step 3: Mix the solution with the spoon

Step 4: Dip the cotton swab into the lemon juice and write a message onto the paper. Allow the paper to dry.

Step 5: Ask the adult to put the paper in a preheated 350°F oven for 10 minutes. “Magically” your message will appear!

Why did that happen? The lemon juice in your invisible ink contains carbon. These compounds are nearly colorless until you heat them up, which turns them black!

Bojangles’ and the Lowgators: A winning combination!

The Charleston area Bojangles’ restaurants are proud to be in partnership with the Charleston Lowgators this season. Together, we will embark on an aggressive plan to bring reading programs to our area schools. Bojangles’ is very serious about giving back to our community and what better way than through school partnerships. At Devon Forest and Boulder Bluff Elementary schools in Goose Creek, Bojangles’ has given $400 to help fund school projects. In the future, all 5 area restaurants will have school partners and will be funding projects. Bojangles’ will also be a major sponsor of the Lowgators Kids’ Club and other Community Programs. This will be an exciting year for the team, our community, and Bojangles’ Famous Chicken ‘n Biscuits is excited to be a part of all the action!!
