SUMMER LEAGUE HEAD COACHES

KEITH SMART - ASSISTANT COACH

Keith Smart is currently in his fifth season as an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors, his eighth season as an NBA assistant coach. Overall, Smart owns 20 years of professional basketball experience as either a player or coach.

Among his many duties at Golden State, Smart has worked closely with players on individual skill development and game strategy. Additionally, he served as the head coach of Golden State's summer league entry in Las Vegas last July.

Smart, 43, joined the Warriors prior to the 2003-04 campaign after spending the previous three seasons with the Cleveland Cavaliers. He was named the Cavaliers interim head coach in the middle of the 2002-03 season (January 20, 2003), and posted a 9-31 record in 40 games after taking over for John Lucas. At the time, he was the second youngest head coach in the NBA, trailing only Eric Musselman. During his first two-plus seasons in Cleveland, Smart held the position of assistant coach/director of player development.

Prior to joining the Cavs, Smart spent three seasons as the head coach of the CBA's Fort Wayne Fury, compiling a record of 85-83 (.506) and guiding the team to its first back-to-back winning seasons in franchise history in 1997-98 and 1998-99. In his first campaign as a head coach at any level in 1997-98, he guided the Fury to a franchise-record 31-win season and a trip to the playoffs. The club made the playoffs again in 1998-99, despite having a single-season franchise record nine players signed to NBA contracts. He was awarded the American Conference Coach of the Month Award five times during his tenure with Fort Wayne and had a CBA-high 21 players signed to NBA contracts.

In the summer of 2005, Smart served as the head coach for the Dominican Republic National Men's Basketball Team, which was the host squad for the 2005 FIBA Americas Championship. During the tournament, he led the Dominican squad to a 6-5 record and sixth-place finish in the 10-team tournament.

During his professional basketball playing career, Smart spent six seasons in the CBA, two seasons in France and one in Venezuela. Smart also played briefly in the NBA, appearing in two games for the San Antonio Spurs during the 1988-89 season.

Smart was originally drafted by the Warriors in the second round (41st overall) of the 1988 NBA Draft. As a collegiate player, he spent two seasons at Indiana University after earning Junior College All-American honors at Garden City (Kansas) Community College. He is widely remembered for his Final Four heroics in 1987, in which he was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four after leading Indiana to a National Championship with his game-winning shot versus Syracuse in the title game. Smart earned a B.S. in Communications from Indiana in 1998.

Born on September 21, 1964, Keith and his wife, Carol, have two sons, André and Jared. They currently reside in Dublin.

SIDNEY MONCRIEF - SHOOTING COACH

Sidney Moncrief completed his first season as the Warriors shooting coach in 2007-08, his fourth season overall as an NBA assistant coach. In his current role, Moncrief works with the players, concentrating specifically on shooting. Under Moncrief's guidance, the Warriors made a vast improvement in free throw shooting in 2007-08, shooting a combined 75.2% from the line after shooting 71.7% the previous season.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Moncrief spent the 2006-07 season as head coach of the NBA Development League's Fort Worth Flyers, leading the team to a 29-21 record (.580). Previously, he also served as an assistant coach for Don Nelson with the Dallas Mavericks from 2000-01 thru 2002-03, during which time the team posted seasons of 53, 57 and 60 wins. Moncrief began his coaching career as the head coach at University of Arkansas-Little Rock in 1999.

Moncrief, 50, had a successful 11-year NBA career from 1979-80 thru 1990-91, appearing in 767 regular-season games and averaging 15.6 points per contest, while shooting 50.2% from the field and 83.1% from the free throw line. The Little Rock, AR, native played his first 10 seasons in the NBA for the Milwaukee Bucks, the first eight of which (1979-80 thru 1986-87) he played under Nelson. During that time, Moncrief enjoyed a five-year stretch from 1981-82 thru 1985-86 in which he averaged more than 19 points per game and earned a spot on the Eastern Conference All-Star squad and was named All-NBA each season. Additionally, he was named NBA Defensive Player of the Year in both 1983 and 1984. Originally selected by Milwaukee with the fifth overall pick in the 1979 NBA Draft, Moncrief also averaged 16.0 points in 93 career playoff games. On January 6, 1990, his #4 jersey was retired by the Bucks.

A 1979 graduate of Arkansas, where he earned a degree in education, Moncrief averaged 16.9 points and 8.3 rebounds during his college career. An All-America selection as a senior, Moncrief led the Razorbacks to the 1979 NCAA Final Four and is still the school's all-time leader in rebounds (1,015), free throws (588) and free throw attempts (752), while ranking second in points scored (2,066).

Moncrief has four sons: Jason, Jon, Brett and Jeffrey.

SUMMER LEAGUE COACHES

STEPHEN SILAS - ASSISTANT COACH

Stephen Silas, 34, completed his second season as an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors in 2007-08, marking his seventh season overall as an NBA assistant coach.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Silas served as an advance scout for the Washington Wizards during the 2005-06 season after spending five seasons on the coaching staffs of his father, Paul Silas, with the Cleveland Cavaliers and the New Orleans/Charlotte Hornets. The younger Silas served as an assistant coach for the Cavaliers during the 2003-04 & 2004-05 campaigns, where he was charged with individual skill work, player development, game preparation, pre-game walkthroughs as well as managing and developing technology and NBA scouting systems for the coaching staff. Silas also served as head coach for the Cavaliers 2003 Summer League teams in Boston and Orlando.

Prior to joining the Cavaliers, Silas spent the previous three seasons as an assistant coach with the Hornets. At the time of his hiring as an assistant with the Hornets on June 5, 2000, he was the youngest assistant in the NBA at the age of 27. Silas originally joined the Hornets in the summer of 1999 as an advance and college scout, scouting nearly 200 NBA and college games in that role. Additionally, he served as the head coach for the Hornets Summer League squad at the 2002 Orlando Summer Pro League.

In addition to his work with NBA teams, Silas coached at the 2007 NBA Pre-Draft camp in Orlando. He served as a coach at the NBA's Basketball Without Borders camp in Beijing, China during the summer of 2005 and represented the NBA Coaches Association at the Dirk Nowitzki Basketball Academy in Berlin, Germany, in July of 2004. He also served as a coach at the 2003 NBA Pre-Draft Camp. Prior to joining the NBA, Silas spent three years as the assistant executive director of the National Basketball Retired Players Association (NBRPA) in Providence, Rhode Island. In that role, he organized many events and served as a liaison between the NBA and its former players.

The Boston native graduated from Brown University in 1996 with Bachelor's Degrees in sociology and management. He played four seasons for the Bears basketball team.

Silas and his wife, Keryl, were married in 2002 and are the proud parents of their two daughters, Kyler Elyse and Kaelyn.

RUSSELL TURNER - ASSISTANT COACH

Russell Turner, 37, completed his fourth season as an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors in 2007-08.

Among his many duties with Golden State during his first four seasons in the NBA, Turner has worked closely with players on individual skill development. Turner has also served as a coach for the Warriors summer league entry in Las Vegas in each of the past three off-seasons. Last summer, he also coached at the NBA/Haier Camp in China after having served as a coach at the NBA's Basketball Without Borders camp in Lithuania during the summer of 2006.

Prior to joining the Warriors coaching staff, Turner spent 11 seasons as a collegiate assistant coach, working in two highly-successful programs. In four seasons at Stanford University from 2000-01 to 2003-04, Turner helped the Cardinal amass a 74-21 record (.779) and advance to three-straight NCAA Tournaments. Before joining the staff at Stanford, he served six seasons as an assistant coach at Wake Forest University from 1994-95 to 1999-00. Throughout his years as a collegiate assistant, Turner helped coach several future NBA players, including Tim Duncan, Josh Howard, Darius Songaila, and Josh Childress.

A native of Roanoke, Virginia, Turner worked for one season (1993-94) as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Hampden-Sydney (VA) College, prior to joining the staff at Wake Forest. That season, the team finished 22-8 and reached the Division III NCAA Tournament Sweet Sixteen for just the second time in school history.

As a player at Hampden-Sydney, Turner was a two-time All-American (1991-92), set the school's all-time scoring record (2,272 points). His teams set school records for wins, while earning two league championships and made the school's first two appearances in the NCAA Tournament.

Turner graduated in 1992 with Magna Cum Laude honors and a B.A. in English and Economics. He also gained numerous academic honors, including introduction into Phi Beta Kappa. Born October 24, 1970, Turner and his wife Elizabeth live in Menlo Park with their two children, Devlin and Darius.
