TEAM NOTE-A-BULLS

The Bulls finished the 2018-19 season with 55 games scoring 100 or more points, marking their highest total since the 1995-96 season. Chicago scored over the century mark in 38 of its final 44 games after hitting that mark just 17 times in the first 38 games of the season.

From Jan. 4 through Feb. 9, the Bulls scored 100 or more points in 18-straight games, marking their second-longest streak of such games since the 1990-91 season.

Chicago also had 19 games shooting above 50 percent from the field this season. It is their third-highest total in the last 20 seasons.

The Bulls had eight games shooting at or above 50 percent from 3-point range this season, making Chicago one of eight teams league-wide with eight or more such games.

From March 1 through the end of the season, the Bulls averaged a league-leading 58.9 points in the paint per game.

The Bulls' 58.9 points in the paint per contest in the month of March ranked first across the entire NBA. Since ranking No. 23 in the league in points in the paint in November, Chicago increased its scoring down low by 13.9 points per game through the end of March.

For the 18 games from March 1 through April 6, the Bulls scored at least 50 points in the paint, marking their longest streak in the last five seasons.

In the 2018-19 season opener on Oct. 18 at Philadelphia, Chicago scored 41 points in the first quarter – the highest tally in the opening quarter of the team's opening game in franchise history.

On Dec. 15 at San Antonio, the Bulls came back to win despite trailing by 21 points in the first half. Chicago trailed by 19 points at halftime, marking the third-largest halftime deficit overcome in team history.

Chicago's defensive performance from the beginning of the season through December saw drastic improvement. In the three-month stretch, the Bulls' opponents points per game dropped by nearly 15 points per contest.

From December 19 through January 21, Bulls opponents recorded eight or fewer steals in 16-consecutive games, which is the longest streak in team history and the second-longest streak in the NBA this season.

The Bulls went a perfect 25-25 from the free throw line on Feb. 2 against the Hornets. Chicago was one of seven teams in the NBA in the last 10 seasons to shoot 1.000 from the charity stripe with 25 or more makes. It was also just the second time in franchise history in which the Bulls were perfect from the free throw line with 25 or more attempts.

In the quadruple-overtime victory in Atlanta on March 1, Chicago set franchise records for points (168), 3FG (21), 3FGA (48) and defensive rebounds (51). The Bulls also set season-highs in FG (56), FGA (119), FT (35), FTA (48) and rebounds (62).

Prior to the 4OT game at Atlanta on Friday, Chicago's 126-point effort against Boston on Feb. 23 marked a season-high. The Bulls had five games scoring 120 or more points in the month of February, which was tied for the most such games last month.

The Bulls averaged 116.0 points per game in the month of February, one of four teams in the Eastern Conference and 10 teams league-wide to hit that number. The 116.0 points per game in February mark the fifth-highest scoring month in franchise history.

PLAYER NOTE-A-BULLS

With Zach LaVine's 42 points and Lauri Markkanen's career-high 35 on Feb. 23 against Boston, they were the first pair of Bulls to score 35+ in the same game since Michael Jordan and Scottie Pippen each scored 37 on Nov. 20, 1996. LaVine's 42 points were scored on a career-high 17 FG and only three free throws. He joins Michael Jordan (five times) as the only Bulls to do it in club history.

In the quadruple-overtime victory at Atlanta on March 1, LaVine notched a career-high 47 points. It was his second 40-point effort in four games as well as his third of the season. LaVine is one of three Bulls in the last 20 years to have three or more 40-point games in a single season. LaVine joined Jordan (twice) and Ben Gordon (2006-07) as the only three Bulls age 23 or younger in franchise history with three or more 40-point games in a single season.

LaVine scored 20+ points in the first 14 games of the 2018-19 season and scored at least 20 in 15 consecutive games dating back to the 2017-18 season. LaVine joined Jimmy Butler, Bob Love and Jordan as the only Bulls to have a streak of at least 15 games with 20 points or more. He was the only NBA player to score at least 20 in each of his team's first 14 games of the year.

From Jan. 15 through Jan. 29, Markkanen knocked down three or more 3-pointers in eight-straight contests, which is the longest streak in Bulls franchise history.

From March 12 through April 9, Shaquille Harrison recorded a steal in 13-straight games, which marks the longest streak of his career and the longest streak by a Bulls player since 2016. Harrison was one of three players in the NBA this season to average more than one steal per game while playing fewer than 20 minutes per contest (min. 50 games played). Harrison's 89 steals this season led all Bulls players. The 89 steals are the sixth-most by a Bull in the last five seasons.

In his two seasons with the Bulls, Ryan Arcidiacono finished with 304 assists (269 coming in the 2018-19 season). Arcidiacono is just the 10th undrafted player in the last 10 seasons to dish out 300 or more assists in his first two seasons. Against Memphis on Feb. 13, Arcidiacono dished out a career-best 11 assists. He became the fourth player in franchise history to record 10 or more assists with two or fewer field goal attempts.

Wendell Carter Jr. became one of five teenagers in NBA history to have at least five double-doubles through his team's first 25 games (Howard, Okafor, Anthony and Towns). Carter Jr. also started his young career with one block in his first six games and joined Michael Jordan as the only two rookies in Bulls history to block at least one shot in the team's first six games.

Kris Dunn had one of the best performances of his career on Jan. 4 against the Pacers, dishing out a career-high 17 assists. It was the seventh-highest tally in Bulls history and the most since Derrick Rose on March 26, 2011. Dunn was one of four players this season with 17 or more assists and two or fewer turnovers in a game. Additionally, Dunn finished with 11 multi-steal games in January, which was the most such games in the NBA.

MEDIC! The Bulls had a number of key players who were on the injured list. Below is a breakdown of the production this season from those players:

- Lauri Markkanen became the 11th Bull in franchise history to score at least 2,000 points in his first two seasons in the NBA.
- Otto Porter Jr. is averaging 17.5 points per game as a member of the Bulls after averaging just 12.6 points per game in 41 games as a Wizard.
- Kris Dunn's 59 multiple-steal contests as a Bull and 27 this season were both team highs.
- Dunn's 172 steals as a member of the Bulls rank No. 10 among Bulls players since the 2009-10 season.
- Zach LaVine had 44 20-point games this season and joined Jordan (twice), Derrick Rose (twice), Gordon and Reggie Theus as the only Bulls age 23 or younger with 44 or more 20+ point games in a single season.

GOING ON THE OFFENSIVE From December through February, the Bulls experienced significant upgrades in their offensive statistics:

FEBRUARY FINNISH Lauri Markkanen was one of the hottest players in the month of February. Below are highlights of his performance last month:

- In the month of February, Markkanen had eight games with 20 or more points and 10 or more rebounds, which was tied with Russell Westbrook for the highest total in the NBA last month.
- Markkanen's eight games with 20+ points and 10+ rebounds in February tied the record for the most such games by a Bulls player in a single month ever (Michael Jordan, 8, April 1989).
- Markkanen's 10 games with 20+ points tied for second in the month of February behind James Harden's 11.
- Markkanen was one of four players in February to rank in the top-10 for both points and rebounds per game. The others are Giannis Antetokounmpo, Karl-Anthony Towns and Joel Embiid.
- From Feb. 2 through Feb. 8, recorded three-straight 30-point games for the first time in his career.

DIRTY THIRTY With 30 points at Philadelphia on Oct. 18, 33 points vs. Detroit on Oct. 20, 34 at Dallas on Oct. 22 and 32 vs. Charlotte on Oct. 24, Zach LaVine became the second player in team history to open the season with four-straight 30-point games (Michael Jordan, 1986). Those four games were also a career-long streak of 30-point scoring for LaVine.
