2018-19 INDIANA PACERS GAME NOTES

The Lede:

- With a record of 44-29 the Pacers currently sit in fourth place in the Eastern Conference. They have secured a record above .500 for the fourth consecutive season, which matches the longest streak in NBA franchise history.
- Indiana has lost its last eight road games, which is the team's longest streak in two years when the Pacers lost eight straight road games from March 6 to April 2, 2017. The Pacers are looking to avoid their fourth straight loss overall Thursday night, which would match their longest losing streak this season.
- The Pacers placed six players in double figures in Tuesday's loss to the Clippers. There have now been 31 games in which at least six Pacers have scored in double figures, which is the most in the NBA. Indiana is 23-8 this season when six or more players score 10 or more points, including an 11-1 mark when seven or more reach double figures.
- The Pacers' bench has combined to score 53 points in each of the last two games, the team's first two losses this season in which Indiana's second unit has scored 50 or more points. Indiana is now 11-2 this season when its bench combines to score 50 or more points.
- Indiana is now 27-2 when scoring 110 or more points and 22-3 when shooting 50 percent or better from the field. Conversely, the Pacers are 4-14 when they score fewer than 100 points and 0-8 when they shoot under 40 percent from the floor.
- The Pacers have recorded at least 30 assists in 18 games this season (14-4 record). Indiana ranks eighth in the NBA with 25.8 assists per game, an improvement of 3.6 assists per game from last season. The Pacers have not averaged more than 25 assists per game since the 1993-94 season (25.1).
- Indiana ended the month of February with a 9-3 record, the third-best mark in the NBA during the month. The Pacers averaged 111.2 points per game during the month and led the NBA by shooting 49.5 percent from the field and 41.0 percent from 3-point range over their 12 games.
- Indiana reached a record of 20 games above .500 (40-20) with the win at Washington Feb. 23, its best mark this season. The Pacers have reached a record of at least 16 games above .500 for the first time since the 2013-14 season.
- The Pacers are now 27-9 at home this season, securing a winning record on their home court for the 30th consecutive season, which is the longest active streak in the NBA.
- Bojan Bogdanovic ranks 17th in the NBA this season in 3-point percentage at 41.6 percent and is averaging a career-best 17.7 points per game.
- Bogdanovic saw a streak of 27 straight games in double figures come to an end Thursday at Golden State. That was the second-longest streak of his NBA career behind his 31-game streak set earlier this season.
- Domantas Sabonis returned to the court at Philadelphia, 3/10, after missing the previous five games with a sprained left ankle. He led the Pacers with 26 points, his second-highest total this season, in 28 minutes off the bench in last Thursday's win over the Thunder. He set new career highs with 12 free throws on 13 attempts in the victory.
- Sabonis finished with 13 points and tied his career high with 16 rebounds in 28 minutes off the bench Tuesday at Los Angeles.
- Sabonis, a Sixth Man of the Year candidate, ranks eighth in the NBA in field goal percentage at .588. He leads all bench players in the NBA in rebounding (9.2) and double-doubles (22 of his 25 this season have come as a reserve).
- Doug McDermott scored in double figures in each of the last three games of the Pacers' four-game road trip. He scored 14 points and made four of his five 3-point attempts Monday at Portland. He followed that with 17 points on 8-for-12 shooting in 26 minutes against the Clippers Tuesday, and 11 points Thursday against the Warriors. He ranks 23rd overall in the NBA in 3-point percentage at 40.5 percent from long distance.
- McDermott is shooting 48.5 percent from 3-point range over 35 road appearances this season, which leads the NBA in that category. He is shooting just 31.0 percent at home this season.
- Wesley Matthews capped a 16-point, seven-rebound performance with the game-winning rebound and putback with 1.6 seconds remaining to lift Indiana to its 108-106 win over Oklahoma City last Thursday. He has scored in double figures in 12 of the Pacers' 15 games since the All-Star break and is averaging 12.5 points and shooting 40.7 percent from the field, 38.0 percent from 3-point range and 85.0 percent from the free throw line over that span.
- Cory Joseph scored eight points, handed out a season-high 12 assists and did not commit a turnover in the win over the Timberwolves Feb. 28. He became the first Pacers player since Jamaal Tinsley in Jan. 2008 to record at least 12 assists without a turnover. Joseph ranks fifth in the NBA in assists-per-turnover ratio (3.81). He went seven straight games without a turnover from Feb. 25-March 10, and recorded 30 assists over that span.
- Backcourt mate Darren Collison ranks seventh in the league in assists-per-turnover ratio (3.65). As a team, the Pacers rank fifth in the league in assists-per-turnover ratio (1.88).
- Collison has climbed to 17th in the NBA in 3-point percentage this season (.417). Over his last 36 games (since Dec. 23), Collison has shot 49.8 percent from the field, 48.1 percent from 3-point range and 91.5 percent from the free throw line for an average of 13.1 points per game. Over his first 33 games this season, Collison shot just 42.8 percent from the field and 34.6 percent from 3-point range.
- A candidate for Defensive Player of the Year this season, Myles Turner leads the NBA in blocked shots with a career-best 2.74 blocks per game. He set a new career high with seven blocks to go with 10 points and 11 rebounds in the win over Chicago, 3/5. Turner became only the seventh different Pacers player to record a points/rebounds double-double and at least seven blocks in the same game, and the first since Roy Hibbert in 2013.
- Despite missing seven games due to injury this season, Turner leads the league in total blocks with 181, which is a new career high for blocks in a season and currently the seventh-most in Pacers NBA franchise history.
- Turner scored a season-high 28 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in Monday's loss at Portland.
- Pacers guard Victor Oladipo suffered a ruptured quad tendon in his right knee during the second quarter of the win over Toronto, 1/23. He will miss the remainder of the 2018-19 season. He has missed 36 games overall this season and the Pacers posted a 19-17 record in his absence. Indiana went 0-7 last season without Oladipo in the lineup.

2018-19 INDIANA PACERS GAME NOTES

PACERS' PLAYOFF HUNT

Currently in fourth place in the Eastern Conference with a 44-29 record, the Pacers have secured a playoff spot for the fourth straight season. Indiana has reached the playoffs in eight of the last nine seasons and 26 times in NBA franchise history.

Indiana has made the playoffs 23 times since the 1989-90 season, which is the most playoff appearances in the Eastern Conference over that span and second in the NBA only behind the San Antonio Spurs.

Since the 1993-94 season, the Pacers have made eight Eastern Conference Finals appearances, which is the most by any team in the East over that span.

LOCKING DOWN

Ranking among the NBA leaders in several defensive categories this season, the Pacers currently have allowed the fewest points in the league this season at 103.9 per game.

Indiana is 19-1 this season when limiting opponents to 97 or fewer points.

The Pacers rank in the NBA's top 10 in the following defensive categories this season:

During Indiana's win over Memphis on Oct. 17, the Pacers held the Grizzlies to 29.8 percent (25-84) shooting from the field, an NBA season-low, including just 22 percent (9-41) in the second half.

That effort marked only the fourth time in NBA franchise history that the Pacers held an opponent to under 30 percent shooting from the field, and the first time since Indiana limited the Portland Trail Blazers to a franchise-record 26.7 percent (20-75) shooting on Feb. 8, 2006.

The Pacers have already held three opponents to under 40 percent shooting this season. Indiana finished 18th in the NBA in 2017-18 while allowing opponents to shoot 46.5 percent from the field, and held only six opponents to under 40 percent shooting with a season-low of 37.5 percent.

FIELD EFFICIENCY

Indiana ranks 22nd in the NBA in scoring average this season with 107.7 points per game, but has been ranked in the top 10 in field goal percentage and 3-point percentage all season thus far.

Indiana has not averaged more than 107 points per game over an entire season since 1992-93 (107.8). The Pacers are looking to average more than 108.0 points per game for the first time since 1991-92 when the team averaged a franchise-record 112.2 points per game.

The Pacers are currently ranked fourth in the NBA this season in field goal percentage at 47.4 percent from the floor. Indiana has not finished a season shooting 48 percent or better since the 1995-96 season (.480), and the franchise record for the best team field goal percentage over a season is 49.7 percent set during the 1989-90 campaign.

The Pacers hold a 22-3 record this season when they shoot 50 percent or better from the field.

Indiana ranks 29th in the NBA in 3-pointers made (9.5 per game) and 28th in 3-point attempts (25.5), but ranks fifth in the league while shooting 37.1 percent from deep.

The Pacers tied their franchise record as they made 19 3-point field goals in the win over the Lakers, 2/5.

TURNER'S BLOCK PARTY

Beginning the year ranked 11th in Pacers NBA history in blocked shots, Myles Turner has climbed to sixth place this season. He leads the NBA in blocked shots this season with 2.78 per game.

Now in his fourth NBA season, Turner has finished third in the NBA in blocks in each of the last two seasons and is averaging 2.1 blocks per game over his career.

Only two players in franchise history have averaged more than 2.5 blocks per game over an entire season (Jermaine O'Neal, 2.8 in 2000-01 and 2.6 in 2006-07; Roy Hibbert, 2.6 in 2012-13). Turner is looking to become the first Pacers player since O'Neal in 2000-01 to lead the NBA in blocked shots.

BALANCING ACT

Balanced scoring and production from their bench has been the key to success for the Pacers this season. There have been 31 games (most in the NBA) in which six or more Pacers have scored in double figures this season (23-8 record), including 12 in which at least seven have scored 10 or more points (11-1 record).

The Pacers ranked 22nd during the 2017-18 season in bench scoring with 32.8 points per game.

Domantas Sabonis leads all bench players in the NBA this season in rebounding average (9.2) and double-doubles (22 of his 25 double-doubles have come as a reserve), and ranks second in field goal percentage (.589).

The Pacers finished with a season-high 66 bench points in their win over the Lakers, 2/5, and are 11-1 this season when their second unit combines to score 50 or more points. Indiana's bench ranks among the NBA's leaders in the following categories:

The Pacers recorded 50 or more rebounds in four straight games from Dec. 7-12, which was the second-longest streak in NBA franchise history (Indiana recorded 50+ rebounds in five straight games last season from Feb. 9-26).

Indiana outrebounded the Memphis Grizzlies 57-28 during its Opening Night win on Oct. 18. That effort marked the Pacers' largest rebounding advantage since the 2012-13 season and tied the fourth-largest margin in NBA franchise history.

2018-19 INDIANA PACERS GAME NOTES

HOME COURT HEROES

Indiana is now 27-9 at Bankers Life Fieldhouse this season, including a 17-5 home record against Eastern Conference opponents.

The Pacers have allowed the fewest points per game at home in the NBA this season while holding opponents to 100.0 points per game on 43.1 percent shooting (first in the league).

With their home win over the Cleveland Cavaliers on Feb. 9, the Pacers secured a winning record on their home court for the 30th consecutive season.

The NBA record for the most consecutive seasons with a winning record at home is held by the Phoenix Suns, who posted 34 straight winning seasons at home from 1969-2003.

Since the building's opening in 1999, the Pacers have recorded a 535-265 (.667) record at Bankers Life Fieldhouse. The Pacers earned their 500th regular season win in their 22-point comeback win over Cleveland Jan. 12, 2018.

In Indiana's NBA history, the Pacers hold a 1,102-622 (.638) record at home, the 10th best winning percentage at home amongst active NBA franchises.

ROAD TESTED

The Pacers currently hold a 17-20 record on the road this season, which is currently the 10th-best winning percentage on the road in the NBA this season.

Indiana is averaging 107.0 points per game on the road (21st in the NBA) and shooting 47.3 percent from the field (third) and 36.7 percent from 3-point range (fifth).

After an 0-2 start away from Indianapolis this season, the Pacers reeled off five consecutive road wins, which was the longest streak since the team won its final five road games of the 2011-12 season and tied for the second-longest streak of road victories in one season in franchise history (accomplished seven times previously).

Last season, Indiana finished with a 21-20 road record, marking only the sixth time in NBA franchise history and only the fourth time over a full 82-game schedule in which the Pacers recorded a winning record on the road. Indiana is looking to post a winning record on the road in consecutive seasons for only the second time in franchise history and the first time featuring a full 82-game schedule over two seasons (Note: Indiana went 26-15 on the road in 1997-98 and 15-10 over a shortened schedule in 1998-99).

Tipping off a four-game Western Conference road trip, the Pacers earned their largest win of the season, a 121-88 win at Utah on Nov. 26. The 33-point win marked Indiana's third-largest road victory in NBA franchise history, its fifth road win by 30 or more points in team history and its largest since the 1996-97 season.

SABONIS, SIXTH MAN

In his second season with the Pacers, Domantas Sabonis is averaging career highs in points, rebounds, assists and field goal percentage this season.

He currently ranks seventh in the NBA in field goal percentage and 18th in rebounds per game. His 9.2 rebounds per game also leads all players who have started fewer than half of the games for their team this season. With 25 double-doubles this season, he has already passed his previous career high (15) for double-doubles in a season set last year.

Sabonis' field goal percentage of .589 would set a new NBA franchise record for the highest field goal percentage over an entire season. Indiana has never had a player shoot better than 60 percent from the field over an entire season (minimum 150 field goals made). He is also looking to become the eighth Pacers player in NBA franchise history to average better than 10 rebounds per game over an entire season, and the first since Troy Murphy in 2009-10 (10.2).

Individual Field Goal Percentage - NBA Franchise History (Min. 150 FGM)

Player	Percentage	Season
1. Domantas Sabonis	.589	2018-19
2. Ian Mahinmi	.589	2015-16
3. Dale Davis	.568	1992-93
4. Dale Davis	.563	1994-95
5. Brad Miller	.562	2001-02

Sabonis recorded 21 points and 16 rebounds in the win at Phoenix on Nov. 27, and followed that with 20 points and 15 rebounds against the Lakers on Nov. 29. He became only the third player in NBA franchise history to record 20+ points and 15+ rebounds in consecutive games, joining Herb Williams (1986-87) and Jermaine O'Neal (2002-03). No player in team history has achieved that feat three games in a row.

He has posted seven games this season with at least 15 rebounds, which is the most by any Pacers player since Troy Murphy (10) during the 2009-10 season.

Sabonis set a new franchise record for the most field goals attempted without a miss in a single game as he shot 12-for-12 from the field and tied his career high with 30 points in Indiana's road win at New York, 10/31. He also tallied nine rebounds and three assists in only 21 minutes before fouling out during the victory.

He tied the previous record last season, and now holds two of the four best shooting performances (most field goals attempted without a miss) in franchise history.

SHARING THE ROCK

Indiana ranks eighth in the NBA this season in assists as the Pacers average 25.8 per game. The Pacers averaged 22.2 assists per game a season ago, and have not averaged 25 or more assists per game since the 1993-94 season (25.1). The team record for most assists over an entire season was set during the 1991-92 season when the Pacers averaged 29.2 assists per game.

The Pacers have recorded 30 or more assists 18 times already this season with a 14-4 record in those games, and are 32-10 this season when recording 25 or more assists. Indiana recorded 30 or more assists only eight times during the entire 2017-18 season.

Indiana recorded a season-high 37 assists in the win over the Lakers, 2/5, which was its highest total since March 2015. The Pacers have only recorded at least 37 assists in a game four times since 1997.

During their home win over Utah, 11/19, the Pacers finished with 35 assists as they committed only nine turnovers. That performance marked only the sixth time in NBA franchise history, and the first since the 1997-98 season, that the Pacers have recorded 35 or more assists with fewer than 10 turnovers.

DC'S DIMES

Darren Collison leads the Pacers and ranks 18th in the NBA this season with an average of 6.0 assists per game. He also ranks sixth in the league in assists-per-turnover ratio (3.65).

Last season, Collison became the first Pacers player to lead the NBA in 3-point percentage (.468), and also led the league in assists-per-turnover ratio (4.28). He became the second player in NBA history and the first since 1980-81 to lead the NBA in both of those categories.

Collison handed out 11 assists and did not commit a turnover in Indiana's road win at Utah, 11/26. Since the 1999-2000 season, there have only been 10 occasions in which a Pacers player has recorded 10 or more assists without committing a turnover. Collison has now done it twice (10 assists, 0 turnovers vs. New York, Dec. 4, 2017). He is also only the seventh player in the team's NBA history to achieve that feat more than once in a regular season game (Jamaal Tinsley (4), Travis Best (2), Mark Jackson (8), Pooh Richardson (2), Vern Fleming (6), Jerry Sichting (2)).

Collison distributed a season-high 17 assists in Indiana's win over Washington, 12/10. That mark was also his highest assists total in his four seasons with the Pacers. He became only the fourth Pacers player since the 2000-01 season (Jalen Rose, Jamaal Tinsley (three times) and Jeff Teague), and only the ninth different player in NBA franchise history to record at least 17 assists in a game.

OLADIPO - P.O.W.

Victor Oladipo was named Eastern Conference Player of the Week following Week 3 of the season (Oct. 29-Nov. 4). He led the Pacers to a 3-1 record during the week and averaged 23.5 points, 10.3 rebounds, 4.0 assists and 2.0 steals per game.

Oladipo has been named Player of the Week four times during his career, all of which have come in a Pacers uniform. Only Paul George (five times) has earned more Eastern Conference Player of the Week honors with the Pacers than Oladipo.

Multiple Player of the Week Awards - Pacers NBA History

Paul George	5	April 9, 2017
Victor Oladipo	4	Nov. 4, 2018

Ron Artest	3	March 29, 2004

Rik Smits	2	Jan. 4, 1998

YOUNG, STEADY AND CONSISTENT

Now in his third season with Indiana, forward Thaddeus Young has started every game in which he has appeared for the Pacers.

Young was named Eastern Conference Player of the Week for Week 8 (Dec. 10-16). It was the second time in his career he was named Player of the Week and the first since January 2014 when he was a member of the Philadelphia 76ers. Young posted three straight double-doubles to begin the week, and averaged 18.8 points, 9.8 rebounds, 3.8 assists and 1.8 steals per game during Indiana's 4-0 week.

Joining Victor Oladipo, who won Eastern Conference Player of the Week after Week 3 this season, this is the first season since 2002-03 (Ron Artest, Jermaine O'Neal) in which two different Pacers players have won Player of the Week awards.

Young reached 5,000 rebounds for his NBA career during the win at Orlando, 12/7. He is now one of eight active NBA players (LeBron James, Dirk Nowitzki, Vince Carter, Carmelo Anthony, Andre Iguodala, Russell Westbrook, Paul Millsap) with over 11,000 points, 5,000 rebounds, 1,000 assists and 1,000 steals in his NBA career. Of those eight players, Young is the only one who has recorded more assists and steals than turnovers during his career.

Including this year, Young has recorded more assists and steals than he has turnovers in all three of his seasons with the Pacers.

2018-19 INDIANA PACERS GAME NOTES

HOLIDAY SEASON

Rookie Aaron Holiday, Indiana's first-round selection in the 2018 NBA Draft, has been used sparingly at times this season, but he has made an impact during his time on the court.

After a stretch in which he did not play in nine consecutive games, Holiday came off the bench and played the game's final 15 minutes and totaled 12 points (4-6 FG, 3-4 3FG), three rebounds and two assists to help Indiana rally and defeat the Atlanta Hawks on Nov. 17.

Holiday proceeded to score in double figures in five consecutive games from Nov. 17-26. He became only the fifth Pacers rookie since 1990 to score in double figures in five straight games (Myles Turner, 2015-16; Brandon Rush, 2008-09; Danny Granger, 2005-06; Jamaal Tinsley, 2001-02).

Holiday has reached double figures in nine games overall this season, and the Pacers are 5-4 in those games.

OLADIPO'S SCORING STREAK

Victor Oladipo scored 20 or more points in 13 consecutive games this season from Oct. 19-Nov. 11. His longest streak of 20+ point games during his NBA career entering this season was six towards the end of the 2017-18 season (March 25-April 3).

Only Chicago's Zach LaVine and Milwaukee's Giannis Antetokounmpo have recorded longer streaks of 20 or more points this season. His streak of 13 straight games with 20 or more points is tied for the fifth-longest streak in NBA franchise history, and tied for the 11th longest streak in the 52-year history of the team (ABA and NBA).

Oladipo ranked 21st in the NBA in scoring this season at the time of his injury with an average of 21.4 points per game. He has missed 11 games due to injury this season, but the Pacers have posted a 7-4 record in his absence. Last season, Oladipo missed seven games and the Pacers went 0-7 without him in the lineup.

OLADIPO STEALS STREAK

After leading the NBA in steals last season, Victor Oladipo ranked 12th in the NBA in steals before his season-ending injury on Jan. 23.

On his way to an NBA-leading 177 steals and 2.4 thefts per game during the 2017-18 regular season, Victor Oladipo collected at least one steal in 64 consecutive games played.

That came to an end in Indiana's Opening Night victory over Memphis Oct. 17 as Oladipo failed to record a steal, ending a streak that was tied for the fourth-longest in NBA history. He finished with 16 points, five rebounds and five assists in only 25 minutes of action.

McMILLESTONES

As the Pacers defeated the Atlanta Hawks on Nov. 17, Nate McMillan earned his 100th victory as head coach of the Indiana Pacers. With a 134-103 record (.565) as head coach, he currently holds the fourth-highest winning percentage by a head coach in NBA franchise history (Larry Bird, .687; Frank Vogel, .580; Larry Brown, .579).

He earned his 600th career win with Indiana's victory over Toronto on Jan. 23. He became the 26th coach in NBA history to reach 600 career wins.

McMillan was named Eastern Conference Coach of the Month for games played in December, his second Coach of the Month award as head coach of the Pacers (April 2017) and his sixth Coach of the Month award of his head coaching career (three times with Portland, once with Seattle).

McMillan ranks fifth among active NBA coaches in career wins. Now in his 15th season as an NBA head coach, McMillan has a chance to crack the top 25 for the most head coaching victories in NBA history during the 2018-19 season.

HICKORY NIGHTS 2018-19

Continuing a first-of-its-kind partnership, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios (MGM) and the Indiana Pacers will bring one of the all-time great underdog stories, "Hoosiers," to the NBA hardwood. For the fourth season, the Pacers will wear Hickory uniforms inspired by the movie, and Bankers Life Fieldhouse will be transformed for four games this season to reflect the elements that helped make Hoosiers one of the most popular sports movies of all time.

The Pacers also will wear their maroon and gold Hickory jerseys on the Hickory Nights at Bankers Life Fieldhouse as well as road games at the Los Angeles Lakers (Nov. 29) and Philadelphia (March 10). The Nike Classic Edition is a modern take on the uniforms of Hickory High as worn in the 1987 cinematic classic Hoosiers.

This will be the fourth season of Hickory Nights recognizing legendary Indiana teams, coaches, players and cities while commemorating Hoosiers. Previous honorees have included Crawfordsville, the birthplace of Indiana basketball and New Castle, home to the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame; Indiana high school's all-time leading boys scorer Damon Bailey; Indiana's first Miss Basketball Judi Warren and state championship teams from Marion, Indianapolis Crispus Attucks, Indianapolis Washington and Milan, whose 1954 state title inspired the film, and coaching icons John Wooden, Tony Hinkle and Jack Butcher of Loogootee.

The Hickory Nights, opponents and those to be honored are as follows:

Date	Opponent	Honoree
Nov. 16	vs. Miami	Muncie Central High School Winners of a record eight Indiana high school boys championships, all in the single-class era, the Bearcats also have been state runners-up seven times and have made 24 State Finals appearances. Muncie Central also produced three Mr. Basketballs, Tom Harrold in 1951, Ron Bonham in 1960 and Rick Jones in 1963, as well as Trester Award winners Jack Moore in 1978 and Sam Long in 1988.
Jan. 19	vs. Dallas	Bob "Slick" Leonard The Pacers will cap "Basketball Day in Indiana" by honoring their Hall of Fame coach and broadcaster Bobby "Slick" Leonard. Leonard, who played at Terre Haute Gerstmeyer High School, was a star performer for the national champion Indiana Hoosiers in 1953 and after a professional playing career, returned to Indiana to coach the Pacers to three American Basketball Association championships and 529 victories in the ABA and NBA. He now serves as color commentator for Pacers' home-game radio broadcasts where his "Boom Baby" call has become synonymous with Pacers' three-pointers. Leonard was inducted into the Naismith Hall of Fame in 2014.
Feb. 7	vs. L.A. Clippers	J.R. Holmes, Jack Keefe and Donna Cheatham The two winningest active boys coaches, Bloomington South's J.R. Holmes and Lawrence North's Jack Keefe, and the winningest girls coach, Donna Cheatham of Scottsburg, will be honored. In 46 years of coaching, Holmes' teams have won 786 games and two state titles at South. In 46 years, Keefe's squads have won 779 games and four state crowns at Lawrence North. Cheatham, in 43 years, has won 699 games and state titles at Scottsburg and Southwestern.
April 7	vs. Brooklyn	2018-19 IHSAA State Champions Continuing a Hickory Night tradition, the Pacers will honor the four girls and four boys 2019 IHSAA State Champions.

ST. VINCENT CENTER

In August 2017, Pacers Sports & Entertainment and St. Vincent unveiled the new St. Vincent Center, the Pacers' training facility and medical office building that will provide local residents and workers improved access to high-quality care. Groundbreaking took place in December of 2015.

The 130,000 square-foot St. Vincent Center was privately financed by PS&E and is located on Delaware Street immediately east of Bankers Life Fieldhouse and adjacent to the Virginia Avenue Parking Garage. It is connected to Bankers Life Fieldhouse via a tunnel on the event level.

The St. Vincent Center houses two NBA-regulation practice courts named in honor of franchise icons Bobby "Slick" Leonard and Donnie Walsh, as well as the most modern training and medical facilities required by professional sports teams. Pacers basketball staff and scouting offices also moved to the Center.

The St. Vincent Center is the 20th stand-alone training facility built by an NBA team since 1999. Many of those facilities have partnered with local health organizations.

Most practices and select shootarounds on the morning of home games will be held at the St. Vincent Center. For more information, please contact the Pacers Media Relations department.

NBA ALL-STAR 2021 INDIANAPOLIS

On Dec. 13, 2017, the NBA announced that Indiana will host NBA All-Star 2021. The 70th annual game will take place at Bankers Life Fieldhouse, home of the Pacers, on Sunday, Feb. 14, 2021. This will mark the second NBA All-Star in Indianapolis. The 1985 NBA midseason classic was held at the Hoosier Dome in downtown Indianapolis.

NBA Commissioner Adam Silver made the announcement during a press conference at Bankers Life Fieldhouse. He was joined by Indiana Gov. Eric J. Holcomb and Indianapolis Mayor Joe Hogsett as well as Pacers Sports & Entertainment owner Herb Simon, President and Chief Operating Officer Rick Fuson and President of Basketball Operations Kevin Pritchard.

Indiana Pacers Head Coach

NATE McMILLAN

15th Season as an NBA Head Coach

Overall Record: 612-555 (.523)

Playoff Record: 17-28 (.378)

Third Season with Indiana

Record with Indiana: 134-103 (.565)

Playoff Record with Indiana: 3-8 (.272)

Nate McMillan enters his third season as the Pacers' head coach after three years as the team's Associate Head Coach under Frank Vogel. His background, former player, head coach and assistant coach in the NBA, as well as an assistant with USA Basketball, made him very well qualified for this job. He has shown why in his first two seasons.

The Pacers have made the playoffs both years going 42-40 the first season before losing to Cleveland in the first round of the NBA Playoffs, 4-0. But in those four games, the Pacers only lost by an average of four points. Then last season, with seven new faces on the roster – including five who would play key minutes – the Pacers surprised the NBA. With many picking the Pacers to win around 30 games and going to the NBA Lottery, the Pacers instead became the surprise story, and one of the best stories, for the 2017-18 season. They went 48-34, earned a No. 5 seed in the playoffs and extended the Eastern Conference champion Cavaliers to seven games in a tightly-contested first-round series. The Pacers' performance earned McMillan sixth place in Coach of the Year balloting and, in September, a contract extension.

"I'm really proud of what Nate and our coaching staff have done," said Pacers President of Basketball Operations Kevin Pritchard. "Nate is very deserving of this extension. We have a wonderful culture and he has been a big part of implementing that culture. He's a dedicated leader, a very good coach and we're lucky to have him here with the Pacers."

"I'm very appreciative of Kevin and Mr. Simon (team owner, Herb Simon) for this show of faith in what we are doing," said McMillan. "Going back two years ago when I was hired, the trust Larry (Bird) and Mr. Simon had in myself and my staff meant a lot. Now with this extension, it's an affirmation of what we all – front office, coaches, players, staff – are trying to accomplish."

The 54-year-old (8/3/64) McMillan has a vast basketball background as a player and a coach. After playing collegiately at North Carolina State, McMillan was drafted by Seattle (30th overall) in the 1986 NBA Draft. He played his entire 12-year career with the Sonics and had his number (10) retired. He is second in franchise history in assists and steals and ranks in the top 10 in eight other categories. He was named to the NBA's All-Defensive team twice (1994 and '95) and led the league in steals in the 1994-95 season with 2.96 per game. In his 12 seasons with the Sonics, they reached the playoffs 11 times.

After his playing days, McMillan was a Seattle assistant coach for two years and became the interim coach in 2000. He remained the Sonics' coach until 2005 and then became Portland's head coach until he was let go in March 2012. In 2008-09, he led the Trail Blazers to 54-28 record, sixth-best record in franchise history and helped the Trail Blazers reach the playoffs in three of his six seasons. McMillan compiled a 458-429 (.516) record as a head coach for both teams. He also served as an assistant coach for the U.S. National Team where he won gold medals in the 2006 FIBA World Championships, the 2008 Beijing Olympics and the 2012 London Olympics.

While many believe McMillan's strength as a player, defense, carried over to his coaching, McMillan says, "I've been labeled a defensive guy. Yeah, I played defense, but you have to be able to play both sides of the ball, and if you expect your players to be two-way guys, you better be able to coach both ways. I coach both ways."

And since his first time around as a coach, McMillan has done what all good coaches have done: go to school.

"I've learned a lot," he said. "My approach is a little different than it was in 2005. Things have changed. The players have changed. How you coach these players has changed. The biggest thing is being able to adapt. There's a lot of old school in me. I won't lose all of that, but I understand you have to adapt to this generation of players as far as how you communicate with them, prepare them."

McMillan was also inducted into the National Junior College Basketball Hall of Fame in 2001 after playing at Chowan College before transferring to North Carolina State.

He and his wife, Michelle, have two children, Janelle and Brittany.

Assistant Coach

BILL BAYNO

Bill Bayno is in his third season with the Pacers with a long coaching career at all levels in his background.

The 56-year-old (5/18/62) Bayno is no stranger to head coach Nate McMillan, having been an assistant to McMillan two different times when he was the head coach at Portland. After that, Bayno was an assistant with the Minnesota Timberwolves and the Toronto Raptors. He has been the director for the Adidas Nations Camp in Long Beach, Cal., and the Adidas Euro Camp in Treviso, Italy, since 2011.

Originally from Goshen, NY, Bayno played collegiately at UMass for two seasons before transferring to Sacred Heart where he was a Division II All-American.

From there, he worked in the college ranks at Seton Hall, Kansas, Baptist College, UMass and UNLV (where he was head coach from 1995-2000 and is the third-winningest coach in school history). At UNLV, the Rebels reached the NCAA tournament twice and the NIT tourney twice in Bayno's five years. In 2000, UNLV won the Mountain West Conference regular season and tournament championships and Bayno was co-coach of the year.

After UNLV, Bayno coached professionally in two pro basketball minor leagues (ABA, CBA), in the Philippine Basketball Association and in Puerto Rico before joining McMillan's staff in 2005. In 2008-09, he returned to the college ranks as head coach at Loyola Marymount, then re-joined McMillan in Portland in 2009.

Assistant Coach

DAN BURKE

Dan Burke is in his 30th year in professional basketball and his 21st season with the Pacers, currently making him the longest tenured assistant coach with the same team in the NBA. During his first eight seasons with the Pacers the 59-year-old (4/3/59) had served as assistant coach and scouting director.

Prior to joining the Pacers, Burke spent eight years with the Portland Trail Blazers (1989-1997) as video coordinator and scout. At one point during his NBA career, Burke was fortunate enough to be with teams that made the NBA playoffs for 17 straight years. While in Portland the Trail Blazers competed in two NBA Finals (1990 and 1992) and three consecutive Western Conference finals.

With Indiana, Burke enjoyed being part of teams that advanced to five Eastern Conference Finals and an appearance in the 2000 NBA Finals. Burke has been fortunate to work with a variety of coaches including Larry Bird, Rick Carlisle, Rick Adelman, Mike Brown, PJ Carlesimo, Isaiah Thomas, Jim O'Brien, Frank Vogel and Nate McMillan.

Born in Lynwood, Calif., Burke calls Sherwood, Ore., home. He graduated from Portland State with a bachelor's degree in history and in social science. He enjoys time with his family, various outdoor activities, fishing, traveling, & reading.

Burke is married to Peggy and they have two daughters, Melissa and Lindsey.

Assistant Coach

POPEYE JONES

Popeye Jones is in his sixth season as a Pacers' assistant coach after having spent his post-NBA career the three previous years with the Brooklyn/New Jersey Nets (one season in player development, two as an assistant coach) and the Dallas Mavericks in player development.

The 48-year-old Jones (6/17/70) played collegiately at Murray State, where he ranks fourth on the school's all-time scoring list, first in rebounding, led the nation in rebounding in 1990-91 and had his number (54) retired. He was a 1992 second-round pick of the Houston Rockets, who traded his rights to Dallas. He played one season in Italy before joining the Mavericks in 1993 and ended up playing with Toronto, Boston, Denver, Washington and Golden State before retiring in 2004.

Jones was inducted in the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame in May 2014.

He has three sons, Justin, Seth and Caleb. Seth plays with the Columbus Blue Jackets in the National Hockey League and made his first NHL All-Star team in 2017. Caleb also plays hockey and was a fourth-round draft choice of Edmonton. He currently plays in the Oilers' minor league system.

Jones is married to Kelsey.

Assistant Coach

DAVID McCLURE

David McClure is in his third season with the Pacers, having been the Player Development Coach his first two seasons. The 32-year-old McClure played collegiately at Duke from 2005-09. He played professionally in the G League for one season and four years in Lithuania. Prior to joining the Pacers, he spent two seasons with the San Antonio Spurs in player development.

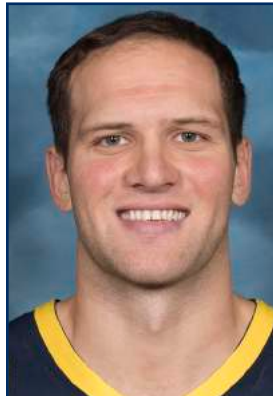

The son of Jim and Betty McClure, David was born in Danbury, Conn. He grew up in Ridgefield, Conn., and went to high school at Trinity Catholic. The youngest of two children, he has an older sister, Laura.
