In Loving Memory of

JOE TAIT

MAY 15, 1937 – MARCH 10, 2021

This past March, the Cleveland Cavaliers mourned the loss of one of the franchise’s most beloved founding fathers when the legendary Joe Tait passed away at the age of 83.

From the Wine and Gold’s inception in 1970 through the next four decades spanning nearly 3,400 games, Joe informed, entertained and inspired generations of Cavs fans – painting a picture of the game with an unmatched combination of passion, playfulness and precision.

In 2010, he was enshrined in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame – earning the prestigious Curt Gowdy Media Award. And, of course, like the legendary Cavaliers whose careers he chronicled, Joe’s banner hangs in the rafters of Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse.

Along with his prolific career with the Wine and Gold, Tait was also the voice of the WNBA’s Cleveland Rockers as well as Cleveland Crusaders hockey. He was the TV play-by-plan man of the Indians for 16 seasons and the voice of Mount Union football, a Division III powerhouse, for over two decades.

With his larger-than-life personality, Joe Tait wasn’t a member of the Cavaliers organization; he was a member of the family. He was a part of Northeast Ohio – and he will be dearly missed.

Joe was also famous for his dry wit and his pragmatic view of life and likely wouldn’t have wanted a big, sappy sendoff when he left us. So, to paraphrase the legend, himself – let’s not say: ‘goodbye.’ Let’s just say: “Have a good night, everybody.”

Rock Entertainment Group is the umbrella entity of the teams and venues that are part of Dan Gilbert’s Rock Family of Companies. It includes the NBA Cleveland Cavaliers, the AHL Cleveland Monsters, the NBA G League Cleveland Charge and Cavs Legion of the NBA 2K League; the operation of Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse in Cleveland, Legion Lair Lit by TCP - home of Cavs Legion in Cleveland and Cleveland Clinic Courts - the Cavaliers’ training and development center in Independence, Ohio. As the unified brand platform, Rock Entertainment Group formally links multiple sports, venues, music, and content properties together to better position them collectively for collaboration, growth and new opportunities, while relentlessly creating amazing experiences for fans, teams, partners, stakeholders and thousands of staff members across the full spectrum of properties.
Cleveland Clinic Courts opened in September 2007 as the Cleveland Cavaliers $25 million state-of-the-art player development center. This investment reflected Cavaliers majority owner Dan Gilbert’s commitment to establish a championship culture for the team and players. Fourteen years later, Cleveland Clinic Courts continues to be one of the top player training and development facilities in the NBA.

Key Features: Two adjacent regulation NBA courts with a total of six hoops; 3,500 square foot strength and conditioning training area that overlooks the playing courts; a rehabilitation center that features a 2,500-gallon hot and cold tub, a 5,000-gallon underwater treadmill and cryotherapy chamber; a large theater-style team meeting room; three spacious locker rooms for Cavaliers players, staff and visiting teams.

Technology: Both practice courts include on-court video monitors with replay feature; wireless internet throughout the facility and MP3 outlets in all areas; designated areas for media to view practice and work with full broadcast capabilities, interview locations and wireless internet access; state-of-the-art-video room and player training technology with real-time video monitoring capabilities to view players during workouts; practice and game archives and live video of practice are accessible from all offices, conference rooms and training areas throughout the facility for players and coaches.

The Cleveland Clinic, a global leader in healthcare and the No. 2-ranked hospital in the country according to U.S. News & World Report, not only offers its name but brings its expertise to the facility itself. Team trainers and physicians can view x-rays, MRIs, cat scans, bone scans and lab reports as if they were in the actual hospital. This gives team physicians the opportunity to educate players and allows the team to make better healthcare decisions and tend to individual player needs more expeditiously.

Community Involvement: The Cavaliers organization is deeply involved in the Greater Cleveland community and is committed to positively impacting the lives of children and families in Northeast Ohio through a comprehensive program of outreach initiatives. Throughout the year, students and youth groups are invited to tour Cleveland Clinic Courts for the opportunity to engage with players and coaches in programs designed to address important social issues with an emphasis on education, youth and family development and health-related issues.

Curated by Library Street Collective, Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse’s art program is privately funded by Cavaliers Chairman Dan Gilbert and his wife Jennifer. It includes works made especially for the transformed venue, its teams, and the Cleveland community.

From murals to light installations to sculptures, each piece was either created or selected to convey the spirit of sportsmanship and the power of resilience. The program features work by a diverse group of local, national, and international artists, who have come together with the goal of celebrating the camaraderie between Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse and its community of athletes, performers, and guests.

This collection contains site-specific pieces from some of the most important contemporary artists working today, and in the cases of Shepard Fairey and KAWS in particular, this is the first time their work is appearing in Cleveland.

The Transformation of Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse touched nearly every aspect of the venue - making it bigger, better, more competitive and well-positioned to stimulate further economic impact well into the future.

In October of 1994, a new era of sports and entertainment began in Northeast Ohio when Gund Arena (later known as Quicken Loans Arena) opened its doors in the heart of downtown Cleveland and the NBA Cleveland Cavaliers came back home after 20 seasons in suburban Richfield. Nearly 26 years later, the “all-new” Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse has been re-designed into a modernized, world-class attraction that continues to deliver a powerful return-on-investment for the City of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County and the entire region.

$185 Million Public/Private Partnership between the City of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, Gateway Economic Development Corporation and the Cavaliers.

Who paid for the Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse Transformation?

- The Cavaliers privately funded $115 million of the total $185 million Transformation project, plus covering any cost overruns. The Cavaliers’ portion of the funding covered all non-public, club, suite, team, premium space, AV/LED, lighting and multi-media upgrades, as well as a significant portion of the public space updates, which included concourse improvements and square footage increases.

- The $70 million capped, public portion of funding will be repaid almost entirely from direct, arena event-related, self-generated revenue sources and was used to complete the remaining portion of the public space redesign, as well as the associated square footage increases. The largest portion of revenue sources is the existing admissions tax on tickets sold for events at Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse.

The transformation extended the Cavaliers lease for seven more years through 2034, committing to the venue for at least 40 years since the team’s original lease, which is among the longest lease tenures in pro sports.

49+ MILLION
Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse generated over $49 million in state and local tax revenue in 2018, that includes nearly $10 million in tax revenue for the City of Cleveland and nearly $5 million in tax revenue for Cuyahoga County.

1+ BILLION
Completed, underway or funded retail, residential and hotel development in the Gateway District since the inception of Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse and Progressive Field in 1994.

27th
Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse ranked as the 27th busiest venue in the world and the 14th busiest in the country according to the Pollstar 2015 mid-year report.

100%
The Cavaliers have paid 100% of all operating, maintenance, repair, and capital expenses for the first 22 years of the Fieldhouse’s operating life. In addition, 100% of Gateway Economic Development Corp’s operating expenses, including property taxes, have been paid by the Cavaliers and Indians since 2004.

2022
The transformation attracted the 2022 NBA All-Star Game to Cleveland. NBA All-Star Week has an estimated $100 million self-generating economic impact, in addition to providing another major image-boosting opportunity for our city.
A new, dramatic glass atrium makes Rocket Mortgage FieldHouse more contemporary, inviting, marketable, and better connected to the city. The transformation of the FieldHouse brings a totally new look and feel to the venue. From the modern designs to the cutting-edge technology, the FieldHouse is a leading example of what an innovative, multi-purpose, design-forward complex can be.
